SUMMARY.

Field-Marshal Haig reports that an enemy raid at Poelcapelle and encounters south of Lens were repulsed.

Hostile artillery has been active south-eastward of Epehy and southward of Armentieres.

A French communique states there has been marked reciprocal artillery activity north of the Aisne.

The American headquarters announce that American troops are in Lorraine.

The United Press correspondent reports that the German strength on the West front comprises from 180 to 190 divisions.

Of this total 115 divisions are in the trenches, and the balance in reserve. These forces are ready for a German offensive.

Germany has 60 divisions on the Russian front, consisting mainly of worn-out and decimated units.

M. Clemenceau (French Premier) and the majority of French strategists favour a generalissimo for the West front.

It is understood that America supports French opinion, but is unlikely definitely to decide without further experience.

It is generally agreed that there are prohibitive political reasons against an inter-Allied commander.

The British forces in Palestine have made a slight advance northward of Jerusalem.

Twelve enemy aeroplanes were destroyed by the British in Palestine during January.

An official report regarding the East African campaign states that Cape coloured troops have occupied Nwembe unopposed.

The British have seized Pumuni Hill, 45 miles inland from Port Amelia, capturing 30 tons of food.

There was further rioting in the suburbs of Berlin on Saturday.

The Commander of Brandenburg states that any workers on strike who do not resume work on Monday will be court-martialled.

The Court has been authorised to impose the death sentence, which may be carried out within 24 hours.

Strong efforts are being made by the German Government to secure an agreement with the strikers.

The Majority Socialist party of the Reichstag has refused to negotiate with the Government unless the workers participate.

The "Daily Chronicle's" Petrograd correspondent says the all-Russian conference of Soviets concluded on Friday.

Members were greatly exhilarated over the strikes in Germany, claiming that they heralded a revolution.

The Bolsheviks, the correspondent says, are certain to retain power for three months till the next conference.

A message from Abington, Massachusetts, reports the sudden death of John L. Sullivan, pugilist.

Owing to a threatened revolutionary socialists' strike the Dutch authorities are taking precautions.

The French Premier is delighted at the result of the Allied War Council at Versailles.

Having disposed of the censure motion, the State Parliament will now deal with the measures on the programme.

In the Assembly only two bills, amendments to the Arbitration and the Gas Acts, will be pressed to finality.

The Upper House, however, has quite a number of bills left over from last year with which to deal.

Among these is the Judges Retirement Bill, which, it is expected, will be taken up immediately.

The Fitzroy River at Rockhampton is slowly receding, but the position in outlying districts is uncertain.

Fears are entertained for the safety of the schooner Orete, which has not been seen since the cyclone.

The missing vessel, which was in charge of Captain Anderson, had a crew of five men.

The Queensland Government has increased the amount available for relief of distress by floods and cyclone to £10,000.

During the gale at Brighton (Vic.) on Saturday, 330 telephone lines were blown down.

The president of the Victorian Employers' Federation (Mr. Keep) refers to the cost of Federal and State Parliaments.

Mr. Keep asks whether our expenditure on legislation in Australia is worth while.

An engine shaft fell end-on down the hold of the steamer Loongana, and crashed through the bottom of the ship.

Water began to pour rapidly into the hold, and the Loongana was immediately moved into dock for repairs.

A conference between members of the Victorian Cabinet and the council of the British Medical Association will take place to-morrow.

It is expected the conference will afford a solution of the difficulties between the B.M.A. and friendly societies in Victoria.

The Commercial Bank's offer to absorb the National Bank of Tasmania has been accepted by shareholders of the latter.

New Zealand will be represented at the Imperial War Conference by Mr. Massey and Sir Joseph Ward.

Fines aggregating £150 were imposed on five individuals in Adelaide for illegal betting.

Judge Rolin yesterday granted the registration of a new industrial union, despite the objections of the old union.

The Lord Mayor's Fund now stands at £14,643, and the Scottish Women's War Hospitals at £7295.

The value of the estate of the late Mr. Norman S. Cohen, of Potts Point, has been sworn for probate at £248,511.

Mr. John M'Laughlin, who has practised as a solicitor in the city for 44 years, died yesterday.

To-morrow is the last day for sending in State income tax returns without incurring a penalty.

The Chief Commissioner of Taxation states that nearly 10,000 summonses are to be issued against country delinquents.

The inquiry concerning the causes of the recent shortage of cornsacks was opened by the Federal Prices Commissioner yesterday.

It is expected that the prospectus of the next war loan will be issued during the week.

A party of sportsmen shot 1137 ducks on the Lockhart Lagoon on Friday.

The total for the number of guns employed is stated to be a record for Riverina.

Reports from the country show that as a result of the general rain a portion of the new wheat has got wet.

This has aroused anxiety as to future trouble with the weevil. Professor Lefroy says this anxiety was quite justifiable.

The market for mining shares opened quietly yesterday, but a good deal of business was done as the day advanced.

An active market ruled for investment scrip and prices were generally firmer.

Trade in dairy produce opened brightly in Sussex-street yesterday. All leading lines commanded strong support.

The market for new-laid hen eggs was firm at from 1/7 to 1/9, but case eggs were slow at from 1/1 to 1/3.

Potatoes were scarce. The market for onions was weaker at from £7/10/ to £8 per ton.

A fair business was done in heavy metal lines and in shelf lines of ironmongery and hardware yesterday.

Bar iron was in demand, and was becoming scarcer. Prices advanced £1 a ton, except for small sizes.

A strong demand existed for all paint material. Australian whitelead was quoted at £72 a ton in ton lots.

There was a small supply of sheep in the pens at Homebush yesterday. Competition was brisk.

There was a good demand for cattle, and prices generally were in advance of last week's rates.

There was a moderate gale yesterday, 33 miles an hour being registered in a gust between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Forecast.—The cyclone, after a brief stay on the coast, worked north-eastward, and is now over the Tasman Sea; weather still unsettled, with squally southerly winds; showers with moderate to rough seas on the coast.

Further rains also over the greater part of the eastern half, with thunder; becoming finer in western parts; cooler generally, with south-east to south-west winds.

ANTHONY HORDERNS' SALE.

BARGAINS IN EVERY DEPT.

ELEVEN DAYS TO RUN.

EVERY DEPARTMENT of the NEW PALACE EMPORIUM was AGAIN FILLED by EAGER PURCHASERS YESTERDAY. The REASON is OBVIOUS. They KNEW that the REDUCTIONS were GENUINE, and that they were OBTAINING VALUE for their MONEY IMPOSSIBLE to DUPLICATE elsewhere. They also RECOGNISED the FACT that PRICES are STEADILY RISING, and that to MISS such an OPPORTUNITY of PRACTISING ECONOMY in the purchase of EVERYDAY NECESSITIES and FUTURE NEEDS was the ANTITHESIS of PRUDENCE. The HEAVY BUYING has made BIG INROADS on the stocks, and as SUPPLIES are necessarily LIMITED, the WISDOM of PURCHASING now is APPARENT. BARGAINS ABOUND in EVERY DEPARTMENT, MANY of the LINES being PRICED below PRESENT-DAY LONDON COST.

A VALUE THAT LEADS THE WAY AMONG VALUES.

THE 9/11 JAP. SILK BLOUSE
AT FARMER'S.

NEW STYLES NOW SHOWING FOR BETWEEN-SEASON WEAR.

This present 9/11 value in Jap. Silk Blouses may be justly proclaimed the keenest of the season. It is certainly a remarkable production, considering the manifold difficulties and increased costs that beset the merchandising world. But a strong position in the silk markets, and an intelligent handling of the material when making up, has enabled Farmer's to produce this excellent value.

There are several styles, made with square necks, with sailor collars, with roll collars—exquisitely hemstitched, and well finished. It is in the cut that these blouses excel, and all sizes may be suited. Three outstanding styles are here listed:—

SMART JAP. SILK SHIRT STYLE, with long roll collar; very becoming. The sleeves are set-in with hemstitching—which also appears down the front. Cuffs are turnback—fastening pearl buttons. PRICE .. 9/11
UP-TO-DATE JAP. SILK BLOUSES, with roll collar and rever front, fastening one large pearl button. The collar is finished with two rows of hemstitching—cuffs are turn-back. PRICE 9/11
VERY DAINTY STYLE WITH SAILOR COLLAR and square neck, the fronts and collar being finished with hemstitching. Cuffs are turnbacks. Fastenings, pearl buttons.
PRICE .... 9/11.

THE SMARTNESS OF SAKUSAN.

THE SILK OF THE MOMENT,
FOR PRESENT DRESS DEMANDS.

A showing of striped Sakusan Silks is at present attracting interest to our Silk Section. Sakusan is undeniably the smartest silk of the season for Sports Coats, Blouses, and Sports Skirts, the stripes being rare studies in colour on natural Tussore coloured grounds. The outstanding values here listed.

STRIPED SAKUSAN, one of the smartest Silks of the season. The ground is somewhat similar to Tussore Silk, but is much more even in weave, and free from dressing. In two-tone stripes of the newest combinations. 32 inches wide.
PRICE .... 5/11 yd.
SATIN STRIPED SAKUSAN. These silks are similar in the ground to the Plain Striped Sakusan, but the stripes are of a rich satin effect, making a truly smart and useful silk for Costume, Coat, and Skirt. 32 inches wide. PRICE .... 7/11 yd.

WINN'S SUMMER SALE STARTS TO-MORROW MORNING.

You have always looked to WINN'S in the past for Low Prices, and now that difficult times have rendered low prices almost a back number—WE STILL AIM to retain the confidence we have gained for VALUE, and live up to OUR SLOGAN, "PRICES ALWAYS THE LOWEST."

By judicious and heavy buying in most departments, we have been able to obviate, to some extent, the big increases in Cotton goods, and we figure on being able to supply our customers' requirements for many months ahead at little or no advance on present regular prices, which we admit are high, but when our present GIGANTIC STOCKS are exhausted prices must inevitably advance still further.

Of course, you've been waiting for OUR SALE—HUNDREDS HAVE. You will find it a veritable

YOUR SUIT WILL LAST TWICE AS LONG

if you take proper care of it. Don't wait until it is absolutely shabby before you send it to us.

When it begins to lose its smart, crisp look—when you see stains and creases here and there—then is the time to pack it off for treatment by the safe Rogers process.

This is the most economical way of getting a suit as good as new.
Isn't it time your suit was along here?
A few shillings—that's all this work will cost you.

ENGINEERS AND MECHANICS —USE "CLEVER MARY."

When your hands are greasy, when the pores are positively clogged with grime, and the skin around the nails is dirty-looking—you should use "Clever Mary." It will clean away every trace of grease, grime, oil, tar, paint, varnish, and so on.
You will find it not only the finest cleaner obtainable for the hands—but also for your aprons, overalls, flannels, etc.
Keep a tin in the workshop, and in the bathroom at home.
Refuse substitutes. If not in stock at your storekeeper's, a FREE sample will be mailed you on request to the Puget Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 100 Regent-street, Sydney.
Your Storekeeper will pay you ½d each for "Clever Mary" and "Shi-noleum" tins returned in good order, with lids.

THE NEW EMBLO,

A MOST BEAUTIFUL PHOTO.,
THE COME-TO-STAY PHOTOGRAPH.

The New Emblo Portrait has come to stay.

It is unequalled in ART, STYLE, or EFFECT.

It is chaste in design, harmonious in the blending of complementary tints, and is of distinctive merit.

It has a two-flap case enclosing a cut-out mount, delicately Indian tinted with dual tints on a plate mark. The photo. shows the mount with good effect. It is flexible, will not crack or break in carriage.

Bromide Portraits (Engraving Black), beautiful and artistic, 15/6 per dozen, or True Sepia Portraits, 21/.

A BEAUTIFUL GIFT PICTURE.

The Emblo is an artistic portrait that will give equal pleasure to the one who gives it and to the one who receives it.

FINANCIAL HELP.

Our reasonable charges and easy repayments make our advances a real help to you. This statement is supported by the unsolicited written testimony of hundreds of satisfied customers, which is the best recommendation for any business. We make advances from £5 upwards, in town or country, against furniture, pianos, deeds of property or vacant land, second mortgages, life policies, interests under wills, War Loan Bonds, Starr-Bowkett Shares, scrip, bond warrants, or any reasonable security. We also make advances without security to approved applicants. Our business is transacted privately and expeditiously by courteous people. Inquiries by post are promptly attended to.

CALDWELL and WATT,
9-11 Castlereagh-street, near Hunter-street, Sydney.

INTERESTS UNDER WILLS, ETC.

If you have an interest under a Will or Settlement, or are entitled to money or property at the death of a relative or friend anywhere within the British Empire or U.S.A., you can turn same into cash at once by calling or writing to me.

I will personally lend you any amount or buy your share right out. Small advances (if required) will be made on day of application. Intending country clients can have their fare paid to Sydney by writing for same. When writing, to save delay, send copies of letters or documents in your possession relating to your share or interest, but the lack of any such letters etc., will not prevent my doing business with you. I also purchase or lend on life policies, no matter where issued. Loans arranged on City or Suburban Property, or Country Freeholds at current rates. Business dealt with promptly and privately; all my communications addressed in plain envelopes.

In business at this address for over twenty years.

Danger Signals

HEADACHE, colds, nausea, blues, mental depression—these are not only painful and annoying, but they are danger signals.

They are your system's attempt to warn you of greater dangers—to forearm you before you fall prey to a malignant disease.

For a great majority of these passing illnesses are due to self-poisoning. They mean that constipation has set up a systematic decay in your body. Unless you keep your system free from decayed food, you cannot have healthy tissue. Poisoned cells have no resistance—they fall easily before the attack of diseases such as tuberculosis, Bright's disease, rheumatism, gout, diabetes, pernicious anemia, and the like.

To free your system from decayed foodstuff, to stop the growth of harmful germs and eliminate them from the intestines, take Nujol.

Nujol acts as an internal lubricant and will relieve the most obstinate cases of constipation and self-poisoning without danger—unlike violent purges and habit-forming cathartics. It is not absorbed by the body and does not form a habit or weaken bowel tissue.

Permanence

When an institution, almost from its inception, takes the commanding position in its field—

And when that institution maintains the commanding position without interruption over a series of years—

Then you may be assured of that institution's integrity—both as to its product and its dealings with the public.

From an annual output of 465 motor cars nine years ago The Willys-Overland Company has grown steadily, and this year its dealers have contracted for more than 200,000 motor cars.

This year the Willys-Overland factories are building the most comprehensive range of models ever produced by any one motor car concern.

When you buy any motor car in the Willys-Overland group you are assured by our commanding position in the industry—by our unequaled facilities and resources—of integrity of values in your motor car throughout the whole period of its performance in your service.

CHAPTER VII.—Continued.

The superintendent hurried out of his office and Mallalieu turned to the sergeant.

"I understood from Mr. Brent," he said, "that that housekeeper of Kitely's said the old fellow had been to the bank at noon today to draw some money? That so?"

"So she said, your Worship," answered the sergeant. "Some allowance, or something of that sort, that he drew once a quarter. She didn't know how much."

"But she thought he'd have it on him when he was attacked?" said Mallalieu.

"She said he was a man for carrying his money on him always," replied the sergeant. "We understood from her it was his habit. She says he always had a good bit on him—as a rule. And of course, if he'd drawn more to-day, why, he might have a fair lot."

"We'll soon find that out," remarked Mallalieu. "I'll step round to the bank manager and rouse him. Now you get your men together—this is no time for sleeping. You ought to have men up at the Shawl now."

"I've left one man at Kitely's cottage, sir, and another about Harborough's—in case Harborough should come back during the night," said the sergeant. "We've two more constables close by the station. I'll get them up."

"Do it just now," commanded Mallalieu. "I'll be back in a while."

He hurried out again and went rapidly down the High-street to the old-fashioned building near the Town Hall in which the one bank of the little town did its business, and in which the bank manager lived. There was not a soul about in the street, and the ringing of the bell at the bank-house door, and the loud knock which Mallalieu gave in supplement to it, seemed to wake innumerable echoes. And proof as he believed himself to be against such slight things, the sudden opening of a window above his head made him jump.

The startled bank manager, hurrying down to his midnight visitor in his dressing-gown and slippers, stood aghast when he had taken the Mayor within and learned his errand.

"Certainly!" he said. "Kitely was in the bank to-day, about noon—I attended to him myself. That's the second time he's been here since he came to the town. He called here a day or two after he first took that house from Mr. Cotherstone—to cash a draft for his quarter's pension. He told me then who he was. Do you know?"

"Not in the least," replied Mallalieu, telling the lie all the more readily because he had been fully prepared for the question to which it was an answer. "I knew naught about him."

"He was an ex-detective," said the bank manager. "Pensioned off, of course—a nice pension. He told me he'd had—I believe it was getting on to forty years' service in the police force. Dear, dear, this is a sad business—and I'm afraid I can tell you a bit more about it."

"What?" demanded Mallalieu, showing surprise in spite of himself.

"You mentioned Harborough," said the bank-manager, shaking his head.

"Well?" said Mallalieu. "What then?"

"Harborough was at the counter when Kitely took his money," answered the bank-manager. "He had called in to change a five-pound note."

The two men looked at each other in silence for a time. Then the bank-manager shook his head again.

"You wouldn't think that a man who has a five-pound note of his own to change would be likely to murder another man for what he could get," he went on. "But Kitely had a nice bit of money to carry away, and he wore a very valuable gold watch and chain, which he was rather fond of showing in the town, and——eh?"

"It's a suspicious business," said Mallalieu. "You say Harborough saw Kitely take his money?"

"Couldn't fail," replied the bank-manager. "He was standing by him. The old man put it—notes and gold—in a pocket that he had inside his waistcoat."

Mallalieu lingered, as if in thought, rubbing his chin and staring at the carpet. "Well, that's a sort of additional clue," he remarked at last. "It looks very black against Harborough."

"We've the numbers of the notes that I handed to Kitely," observed the bank-manager. "They may be useful if there's any attempt to change any note, you know."

Mallalieu shook his head.

"Aye, just so," he answered. "But I should say there won't be—just yet. It's a queer business, isn't it—but, as I say, there's evidence against this fellow, and we must try to get him."

He went out then and crossed the street to the doctor's house—while he was about it, he wanted to know all he could. And with the doctor he stopped much longer than he had stopped at the bank, and when he left him he was puzzled. For the doctor said to him what he had said to Cotherstone and to Bent and to the rest of the group in the wood—that whoever had strangled Kitely had had experience in that sort of grim work before—or else he was a sailorman who had expert knowledge of tying knots. Now Mallalieu was by that time more certain than ever that Cotherstone was the murderer, and he felt sure that Cotherstone had no experience of that sort of thing.

"Done with a single twist and a turn," he muttered to himself as he walked back to the police station. "Aye—aye—that seems to show knowledge. But it's not my business to follow that up just now—I know what my business is—nobody better."

The superintendent and the sergeant were giving orders to two sleepy-eyed policemen when Mallalieu rejoined them. He waited until the policemen had gone away to patrol the Shawl and then took the superintendent aside.

"I've heard a bit more incriminatory news against Harborough," he said. "He was in the bank this morning—or yesterday morning as it now is—when Kitely drew his money. There may be naught in that—and there may be a lot. Anyway, he knew the old man had a goodish bit on him."

The superintendent nodded, but his manner was doubtful.

"Well, of course, that's evidence—considering things," he said, "but you know as well as I do, Mr. Mayor, that Harborough's not a man that's ever been in want of money. It's the belief of a good many folks in the town that he has money of his own, he's always been a bit of a mystery ever since I can remember. He could afford to give that daughter of his a good education—good as a young lady gets—and he spends plenty, and I never heard of him owing aught. Of course, he's a queer lot—we know he's a poacher and all that, but he's so skilful about it that we've never been able to catch him. I can't think he's the guilty party—and yet——"

"You can't get away from the facts," said Mallalieu. "He'll have to be sought for. If he's made himself scarce—if he doesn't come home——"

"Ah, that 'ud certainly be against him!" agreed the superintendent. "Well, I'm doing all I can. We've got our own men out, and there's three officers coming over from Norcaster by motor—they're on the way now."

"Send for me if aught turns up," said Mallalieu. He walked slowly home, his brain still busy with possibilities and eventualities. And within five minutes of his waking at his usual hour of six it was again busy—and curious. For he and Cotherstone, both keen business men who believed in constant supervision of their workmen, were accustomed to meet at the yard at half-past six every morning, summer or winter, and he was wondering what his partner would say and do—and look like.

Cotherstone was in the yard when Mallalieu reached it. He was giving some orders to a carter, and he finished what he was doing before coming up to Mallalieu. In the half light of the morning he looked pretty much as usual—but Mallalieu noticed a certain worn look under his eyes and a suppressed nervousness in his voice. He himself remained silent and observant, and he let Cotherstone speak first.

"Well?" said Cotherstone, coming close to him as they stood in a vacant space outside the office. "Well?"

"Well?" responded Mallalieu.

Cotherstone began to fidget with some account books and papers that he had brought from his house. He eyed his partner with furtive glances; Mallalieu eyed him with steady and watchful ones.

"I suppose you've heard all about it?" said Cotherstone, after an awkward silence.

"Aye!" replied Mallalieu, drily. "Aye, I've heard."

Cotherstone looked round. There was no one near him, but he dropped his voice to a whisper.

"So long as nobody but him knew," he muttered, giving Mallalieu another side glance, "so long as he hadn't said aught to anybody—and I don't think he had—we're—safe."

Mallalieu was still staring quietly at Cotherstone. And Cotherstone began to grow restless under that steady, questioning look.

"Oh?" observed Mallalieu, at last. "Aye? You think so? Ah."

"Good God—dont' you," exclaimed Cotherstone, roused to a sudden anger. "Why——"

But just then a policeman came out of the High-street into the yard, caught sight of the two partners, and came over to them, touching his helmet.

"Can your Worship step across the way?" he asked. "They've brought Harborough down, and the Super wants a word with you."

LAW REPORT.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar.)

HEARING OF CREDITOR'S PETITION.

Re William Harold Corke, ex parte John Slack Smith, and Henry William Jones. Mr. Weaver (Messrs. Weaver and Allworth) appeared for the petitioning creditors. A sequestration order was granted, and Mr. C. F. W. Lloyd appointed official assignee.

VOLUNTARY SEQUESTRATION.

Frederick George Cheeseman, clerk, of Wollongong-road, Arncliffe, lately of Frederick-street, Rockdale. Mr. W. H. Palmer, official assignee.

INDUSTRIAL ARBITRATION COURT.

(Before Judge Rolin.)

SCHWEPPES' EMPLOYEES.

Mr. H. Fawl applied on behalf of Schweppes Mineral Waters Employees' Union, for its registration as an industrial union. The application was opposed by Mr. A. R. Croft, on behalf of William Arthur Green, William Ashman, and John Arthur Tulk, and also by Mr. H. O'Reilly, instructed by Mr. P. J. Clines, for T. J. Sheekey, cordial manufacturer, of Yass. The main grounds of the objections were that the applicant union was not a bona-fide trades union of employees, and that if a union consisted of a section only of employees in the industry those outside of it would be prejudicially affected.

His Honor said that there was no union in existence similar to that whose registration had lately been cancelled. It was urged by objectors that the principal officer of the applicant union was works manager of Schweppes, and that therefore he really represented the company. But that officer was an employee, and, as such, was entitled to join the union. His Honor said that he could quite see that a small union, unbacked by others, might not have the courage to make demands on their employers. But the swing of the pendulum had brought this about. Referring to a recent strike, his Honor said about 180, out of a membership of 5000, decided that the employees of a place declared "black" should be called out. The result was that a number of men were deprived of the means to make a livelihood.

His Honor granted the application for registration, subject to the formal requirements of the Industrial Registrar.

WOOL AND BASIL WORKERS.

RIVAL UNIONS.

At the end of last year the Wool and Basil Workers' Association was de-registered as an industrial union for participating in a strike. Mr. M. J. Connington now applied on behalf of the association for its re-registration. In support of the application, it was stated that the association was registered as an industrial union in 1902. With the exception of a strike in 1911, the association had always complied with the law. Its members were now sincerely desirous of being restored to the list of industrial unions, and they aimed at an adjustment of their working conditions by constitutional methods. The association promised that its members would honestly endeavour to maintain proper respect for the Court and for industrial peace.

Sydney Chapple, secretary of the applicant association stated that, out of its 1000 members, only 150 were at work at the time of the strike. Of these 80 illegally ceased work. He believed that the members would not again offend, as they had suffered loss of employment owing to the strike, and had been deprived, through de-registration, of the privilege of prosecuting their claims through the Court.

Mr. J. Stuart Thom made a counter application for registration by the New South Wales Fellmongers, Scourers, and Basil Tanners' Union, which was established on October 12 last. By consent, both applications were heard together. On the application of Mr. Thom, his Honor adjourned the hearing for the evidence of the secretary of the proposed new union.

OPERATIVE PLUMBERS.

Mr. J. Duncan, on behalf of the Operative Plumbers' Society, applied for variation of the award in the Iron and Shipbuilding Trades Group (No. 19), which relates to plumbers employed at the iron and steelworks of the Broken Hill Proprietary Company, at Port Waratah, Newcastle. The application was opposed by Mr. H. A. Mitchell, industrial officer of the company. The only variation sought in the award was the increase of the plumbers' wages from 1/6½ to 1/8 an hour. After argument, his Honor varied the award by granting the increase.

IRONWORKERS.

The Balmain branch of the Federated Ironworkers' Association of Australia applied for registration as an industrial union. Mr. A. R. Croft appeared for the applicant association; Mr. M. J. Connington for the Federated Ironworkers; Mr. Gilbert Sinclair for the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders Employees' Union; Mr. W. Bingham for the Employees' Association of the Mechanical Branch of the Government Railways. Mr. H. A. Smedley appeared to watch the interests of the Iron Trades Employers' Association. The applicant union, it was stated, was a branch of the Federal Ironworkers' Association of Australia, which had been de-registered owing to participation in a strike. The branch now desired registration as a separate entity. Mr. Smedley contended that the fact that the Federal body had been de-registered debarred one of its branches from coming to the Court with an application like the present.

The case is part heard.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Docker.)

Mr. Herbert Harris was Crown Prosecutor.

Albert Henry Anthes, charged with receiving stolen property, was acquitted, the jury not leaving the Court. His Honor directed the jury that as the only corroborative evidence was that of an alleged accomplice, very great care must be exercised as to their verdict. Mr. Ryan appeared for the accused.

SYDNEY QUARTER SESSIONS.

William Henry Powers, false pretences; Albert Edwin Williams, receiving stolen property; Joseph Ryan and John Morrissey, breaking and entering, with intent to steal.

CIVILIAN AND MILITARY POLICE.

Mr. Smithers, S.M., at the Central Police Court yesterday, heard evidence in the case of John Chalmers, charged with unlawfully interfering with Peter Cairns, a member of the military police. There was a second charge of using insulting words. Mr. Nolan appeared for the defendant.

It was alleged that defendant came up in a fighting attitude and used the words "cold-footed coward" while Cairns and other members of the military police had a returned soldier under arrest in Hay-street.

Witnesses for the defence stated that a handcuffed soldier was being roughly handled by four of the military police, when defendant protested without using any offensive language.

Defendant said that he was working in his place of business, when he heard the cries of a man in the street. Rushing out without coat or hat he saw a soldier, who was being dragged along by four of the military police. As unnecessary violence was being used he spoke to one of the military police, who drew his baton. He asked for the number of the man to whom he spoke, and gave his own name and address. He was arrested about half an hour after the soldier under arrest had been taken to the Police Station in a cab at his suggestion. He and one of the military police called the cab at the same time. Denying that he had used any offensive words, defendant, who said he had a son at the front, explained that instead of being in a fighting attitude he drew back and put up his hands when he thought he was about to be struck by a baton.

The magistrate said defendant had allowed himself to go too far. Still, as his intentions appeared to be good ones, the punishment should not be heavy. The fine for each of the offences would be £1, in default seven days' imprisonment.

The Police Prosecutor said that defendant was a man of excellent character, who had evidently been carried away by excitement.

THE SUN NEWSPAPER
Above All for Australia
Limited
32 Castlereagh St.
Sydney

Next Sunday's issue of the "The Sunday Sun" will be the first of the New Double Papers. It will comprise the present issue and "The Sun Pictorial," the combined price being 2d.

"The Sun Pictorial" which will add a unique artistic pictorial value to "The Sunday Sun," will be printed by the Intaglio process of printing in rotogravure, which has recently been an extraordinary popular feature of the high-priced illustrated papers in Europe and America, but it is new to Australia. Its effect challenges the most beautiful photographs on matt bromide paper, and the great distinctness of detail attained enables the reproduction of subjects in a manner hitherto impossible.

Complete arrangements have been made for the supply of pictures, not only from all the fronts in the Great War, but also from all parts of the world, particularly from Australasia.

Subscribers are requested to kindly notify their local newsagents in order that their order may be supplied.

ON THE LAND.

PROTECT THE WHEAT.

So much attention has been directed lately to the damage done by the wheat weevil that it follows there is anxiety in many quarters as to the effect of the recent rain upon the new wheat. Wet wheat means weevil, and undoubtedly a good deal of the new crop has got wet. This is practically unavoidable under our present system both of farming and handling wheat. When the bulk-handling system is in force, the trouble will disappear, as properly-equipped elevators are fitted with drying plants. But we have not got the elevators, and cannot avoid stacking wheat, for the time at least, both on the farm and at wayside stations, where it is practically unprotected. Silos or grain sheds are few and far between on the farms, and stacks can hardly be protected while they are being built in the open at the country sidings, or being held for shifting to the main depots. In the past our system has worked satisfactorily in the main, because we got the wheat away in a few months. But we are up against a different position now, and must face it—the sooner the better and the cheaper. It is certain that the wheat must be kept in this country for a considerable time. It is also certain that we cannot keep it in good condition if it is allowed to get wet, and is not properly treated at the first opportunity. If we allow it to become weevil infected we will not be able to sell it later on and send it abroad without first cleaning it up. And then we will have lost much of the quality, and consequently much of the value. Obviously it is imperative that this matter should receive attention—any apathy or further neglect in connection with our wheat would be intolerable.

The only body that can deal with this matter is the State Wheat Board. It has taken the wheat out of the growers' hands virtually—as but a few can afford to hold it on their farm with the intention of selling it when the market is free again—and the board must take full and proper care of that wheat, both in the growers' and the community's interests. We have lost enough as it is through bad management and incapacity in handling our wheat crop, and to that amount there is no necessity to add more. Professor Lefroy has shown us how we can handle this wheat, and keep it fit for export. It is a matter of the State Wheat Board following the example of the British Commission; of utilising local engineering facilities, and having machines made that will both dry the wheat and clean out any weevil that is present. There is no patent royalty to pay, or any charge for advice; we have but to follow a straight course ahead. Yet so far there is no evidence that the Wheat Board is doing anything in the matter. The Minister admits that nothing has been done about these machines, but points out that the board has a cleaning machine at Darling Island. But that is a cleaning machine only; it neither dries the wheat nor cleans out the weevil. Therefore it does not enter into the question. It is to be earnestly hoped that the Minister and Mr. Drummond will give this matter early and effective attention. Seeing what we have lost through weevil it is an extraordinary position that a stranger should come here, and in five weeks have these machines proved and near completion, while the State Wheat Board, with all the facilities it should be able to command, has done nothing in regard to the weevil trouble. But we can only be grateful that the way out has been made plain, and what is required now is that the State should follow Professor Lefroy's advice, and order sufficient of these machines to dry all the wet wheat, and ensure that nothing but perfectly dry wheat goes into the stacks at the permanent depots. It is a case of the first cost being the cheapest cost.

FRUIT INDUSTRY.

IMPORTED APPLES AND CITRUS CANKER.

FRUITGROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

At the monthly meeting of the executive council of the Fruitgrowers' Association of New South Wales, held on Saturday, Mr. J. Neil in the chair, there was an unusually good attendance of members representative of the whole State. The question of imported apples still being on the Sydney wholesale market, although it was distinctly laid down by the Federal authorities, when they permitted the importation of 55,000 cases of American apples in November and December last, that none of these apples should be on sale after December 31, was considered. The executive officers of the association had personally seen some of these apples still in cold storage in the Sydney markets, and believed that they were still in competition with local apples, and held this confirmed the association's contention in November last that these imported apples were not required. The chairman read the following telegrams that had been sent to the Prime Minister on January 30 and 31 respectively:—"American imported apples found in cold storage to-day. Await your reply." "Quantity imported apples still in cold store Sydney markets. Await your action."

The question of citrus canker was discussed, and correspondence with the Federal and State authorities read. Mr. E. P. Crowther read a recent quotation from the Press which excited great indignation, and it was resolved unanimously that immediate steps be taken to urge the authorities, both Federal and State, to absolutely prohibit the importation of citrus fruit from any country in which this dreaded disease existed, and also to ascertain whether the disease had become prevalent in the Northern Territory, and, if so, what steps were being taken to eradicate the disease and prevent its importation into the other States.

The question of the A.W.U. award case and several other important matters were dealt with. The organising secretary reported that a branch had been formed in the Kurrajong district, and that he was in communication with a number of other fruitgrowing centres with a view to forming branches in the immediate future, and that the general progress of the association was most encouraging.

The Minister for Lands (Mr. W. G. Ashford) was present during a portion of the proceedings, and in the course of an address said that he recognised it was the duty of Governments to help in every reasonable way the man on the land, and that he personally took a very great interest in attempting to solve the problems and remove some of the many difficulties that beset the way for the primary producer, be he wheat-grower, orchardist, or stock-raiser, and that he was prepared to give the association every assistance in his power to aid them in the matter of the citrus canker.

WET WHEAT.

MUST BE DRIED OR GET WEEVILLY.

Reports from the country show that as a result of the general rain a portion of the new wheat has got wet, and this has aroused anxiety as to future trouble with the weevil. Interviewed regarding the position yesterday, Professor H. Maxwell-Lefroy said the anxiety was quite justifiable.

"My opinion is that the building of machines for heating the wheat should be proceeded with as rapidly as possible in sufficient number to deal with all the wet wheat. The wheat must be kept absolutely dry, as every bag of wheat that gets rain on it will get weevil under the conditions it is stacked here. To dry it should not cost more than 3d a bushel, and the question is whether it is not best to spend the money now and protect the wheat or lose far more later on. Unless something is done the state of the 1917-18 crop will be worse than that of 1916-17 crop. If it is to be kept free of weevil the wheat must be dried before it is put into the permanent stack at the depots. It is perfectly obvious that if the situation is not taken hold of, in six months this wheat that has got wet will not be fit to ship."

In reply to further questions, the professor said that the machines that the British Commission was having built in Sydney would both dry the wheat and clear the weevils out. As far as he knew the State Wheat Board had done nothing towards getting such a machine. His advice had not been asked.

"I would like to emphasise the fact," added the professor, "that these machines are not a matter of experiment. They have been proved. We have wheat here that has been treated and kept for three weeks. It has not a single insect in it, and chemical test shows that it is perfectly good wheat ready to be shipped. The experiment stage is passed, and it is a matter of organising the engineering facilities in the State for the purpose of turning out the machines. In regard to the orders placed by the British Commission, the local engineering firms have responded splendidly, and I am grateful to them. In this connection it should be borne in mind, that, as far as the machines that we are having made are concerned, they are not costing the Australian taxpayer one penny, but all that is being done is being done for New South Wales just as must as for the British Commission. The latter body is not asking for any patent rights or holding back anything."

STATEMENT BY MINISTER.

Asked yesterday what was being done in the above matter, the Minister for Agriculture stated that Professor Lefroy's recommendations as to stacking were being carried out, but nothing so far had been done about the machines. The State Wheat Board, Mr. Grahame added, had had a cleaning machine at work at Darling Island for some months past.

IMPORTED HEREFORDS.

The well-known Hereford breeders Messrs. R. A. and C. V. Reynolds, of Hobartville stud, Richmond, have just landed a young Hereford bull, Eaton Conqueror, bred by Mr. C. T. Pulley, Lower Eaton, Hereford. He is by Eaton Moonstone—Eaton Milkmaid, and was selected by Mr. C. V. Reynolds. At present in quarantine, this bull should strengthen the breed locally. He is claret red in colour, beautifully marked, and very even on the top and from the tail down to the hock. There are also four Hereford heifers and one young bull in the quarantine. They were bred by Mr. F. D. Back, Onibury, Hereford, and are all going to Queensland—the bull to Messrs. J. H. M'Connell and Sons, and the heifers to Mr. J. H. S. Barnes.

THE ROYAL SHOW.

The secretary of the Royal Show states that the earlier entries for the show which begins on March 26 next are coming in very freely. The show is much earlier this year, and intending exhibitors are reminded that the dates of entries close correspondingly early. The first closing date for horses is Saturday, February 23; cattle and pigs are due on the 25th, and poultry on the 26th.

FRUIT EXHIBIT.

YOUNG.—The Young fruitgrowers have decided to exhibit again in the apple pyramid section at the Royal Show. Mr. Frank Finn was appointed organiser.

WHEAT AND STOCK.

BATHURST.—Speaking regarding the wheat and meat problem, Mr. W. G. Ashford (Minister for Lands) said already good results had followed the recent conference in Sydney—for one thing, the Federal guarantee of 4s for this year's crop. That in itself would be some measure of security for the moment to the general wheat farmers. It was to be hoped that the resolutions that were carried would have the strongest representation to the Federal authorities, and that they would bear good fruit, particularly in the direction of prolonging the security till the time when there would again be sufficient shipping to move the harvest.

Mr. Ashford added that doubtless the misrepresentation regarding his proposals had been caused by the fears of certain agents that their commissions would be lost, if some form of security were not given. While those persons might have been acting on purely selfish motives, and while there was the actual misrepresentation, their motives had undoubtedly awakened the farming community to a realisation of some of the difficulties of the existing situation. Allied to these elements had been some persons whose positions might have entitled the public to expect from them a broader view of the position. Time alone would prove whether the action taken by himself outside of the immediate benefits already achieved was in the public interests or not.

MELBOURNE.—Interviewed regarding Australias' future in agriculture and the relative merits of wheat and meat, Mr. J. M. Niall, managing director of Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co. Ltd., said he could conceive that the man who would have to borrow money to buy stock at present prices might hesitate and decide to continue under wheat, thus lessening his risk. He agreed that to the present owner of stock the outlook appeared more favourable to continue breeding and stock-raising, largely owing to the decimation of all flocks and herds in Europe. He thought that the proposal to abandon or reduce farming operations and change over into stock to a greater or less extent might present an insuperable problem to many persons at the present time.

"I think the matter may be left to the good sense, aided by practical knowledge of the landowner," added Mr. Niall, "and that no permanently good result will be secured by Government interference or control. If the minds and energies of our political representatives could be concentrated on the question of decentralisation of labour, to employ itself in production of exportable products, the benefits to Australia would be incalculable."

STORM DAMAGES FRUIT.

The heavy winds and rain of Thursday brought a lot of fruit to the ground in the Central Cumberland orchards. It is also reported that a great deal of the grape crop has been ruined. The grape crop was just ready for market, but the rain split a great deal of the fruit.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BULLI.—The South Coast district is in the best condition for the past three years. Natural feed is in abundance, paspalum grass is in places 6ft high. The blackberry harvest is now in full swing, and in places they are as thick as grapes, and the season which generally terminates about the end of this month promises to eclipse all previous records, providing heavy rain is not encountered while the berries are in a ripe tender condition. About 200 tons were despatched to Sydney jam factories last year, and the suppliers this year have unlimited contracts. The rainfall during January constituted a record, totalling 1904 points. The heavy rains at the latter part did extensive damage to fruit crops, especially peaches. Fine crops of apples and plums are now beginning to ripen, but the orchardists' profits have been considerably curtailed by the recent heavy rains.

GRAFTON.—A water-hole at Carr's Creek, where the water hyacinth vegetated seven years ago, was dry for that period till recently, and as a result the aquatic growth was dormant. The hole is now filled with water, and the hyacinths are blooming vigorously.

MORUYA.—Owing to the heavy rain, most of the potato crops will be spoiled.

WARIALDA.—In the Warialda pastures protection district for the year the official estimated number of stock in the district at December 31 was:—Horses, 13,583; cattle, 71,663; sheep, 1,048,223. The figures for large stock show an increase on last year's figures, while there is a considerable decrease in the number of sheep. This is accounted for by the very heavy losses (partly) sustained towards the end of last year, caused by the absence of green feed and cold snaps.

MATER MISERICORDIAE.

The following appointments have been made to the honorary staff of the Mater Misericordiae Hospital:—Physicians, Dr. H. Biffin and Dr. Marg. Harper; assistant physicians, Dr. Creswell Howle and Dr. O'Rielly; senior surgeon, Dr. D. Kelly; surgeons, Dr. A. Vallack, Dr. J. H. Phipps, D.S.O.; assistant surgeons, Dr. T. Pawlett, Dr. H. C. R. Darling, Dr. Murray Curtis; surgeon to outpatients, Dr. J. Deakin; aural surgeon, Dr. Alex. Dunn; ophthalmic surgeon, Dr. F. E. Brearly; pathologist, Dr. P. Walton Smith; dermatologist, Dr. M. Veech; anesthetist, Dr. T. Sabiel.

MEDICAL MAN PROSECUTED.

The hearing of the case in which Percy George Carte was charged on an information laid by Inspector Kench, of the Board of Health, with having used the title "doctor of medicine" between November 1, 1917, and January 23, 1918, while not being a legally qualified medical practitioner, was continued at the Water Police Court yesterday.

Mr. Kidston, of the Crown Law Office, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. H. K. McIntosh represented the defendant.

Detective James Farley said that he went to defendant's place at 267 Elizabeth-street on January 21. On the outside of the building was "Percy Carte, ex L.R.C.S.I., L.M.R.C.A.I., L.A.H., etc., specialist nerve, skin, and blood diseases, drink habit cured." The door was opened by a man named Browning, and he showed him into a back room. Pointing to the defendant, he said, "That is Mr. Carte, sit down." Witness asked defendant if he was Dr. Carte, and he replied "Yes." Witness told him that he was suffering from heart trouble. After examining his chest, back, and other parts of his body defendant told him he was suffering from a nervous breakdown, and that he could cure him. In reply to a question defendant said that it would cost him sixteen guineas, adding that if he consulted a doctor it would probably cost him sixty or seventy guineas. To Mr. McIntosh witness said that he knew defendant was not a duly registered medical practitioner, and that he had gone to the place for the purpose of trapping him.

The hearing was adjourned till to-morrow.

ENEMY ALIEN FINED.

Arthur Burchardt, a wood-working machinist, was fined £10, with 16/6 costs, in default four months' hard labour, at the Newtown Police Court yesterday, on a charge of using a name other than that under which he had registered as an enemy alien since the outbreak of war.

Sergeant Beater stated that defendant was known to him as Arthur Burchardt. He had registered himself on September 20, 1915, at the Petersham Police Station, as an enemy subject in that name.

Defendant stated that he left Germany when he was thirteen years of age, and came to Australia in 1908. Since the outbreak of war he had registered himself as an alien subject, and had reported himself regularly to the police.

Questioned by the police prosecutor, defendant denied that in the presence of his wife he had displayed enthusiasm over the Italian debacle, nor had he told his wife that he would soon get rid of her when the Germans came. His wife has not to leave him owing to his disloyal utterances and violent temper.

LATE MR. CHARLES BOARD.

Probate has been granted of the will of the late Mr. Charles Thomas Board, of Bondi, who died on the 3rd ult. The net value of his estate is £39,606, of which £11,400 is realty. Testator bequeathed the following legacies:—£1000 to Ada Lupton (wife of Ernest Lupton, of Bondi), and £500 each to her two daughters; £1000 to Jessie Andrews (wife of Forrest Andrews, of South Australia), and £500 each to her daughter and son; £50 each to Mrs. W. Barlow and William Percy Bradley; £500 each to the Benevolent Society of New South Wales, for the benefit of women and children, at Paddington, and to the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind. The residue of the estate is devised to testator's widow, Margaret Board.

VICTORIAN COAL CONTRACT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Fuller is reported to have said, by way of partial justification for this extraordinary contract, "as the men (referring to Mr. Brown) who years ago conferred one of the greatest benefits on the Newcastle district when he broke up the big monopoly of the A.A. Company." He said Mr. Brown was the man who smashed that monopoly.

Mr. Estell: It was his father!

Mr. Fuller: "I am not at all sure there was not an idea in the mind of the Government that the fact of Mr. Brown getting this contract through the Victorian and New South Wales Government might tend very largely to prevent the establishment of a huge monopoly in the northern district of New South Wales.

"Mr. Brown to-day stands alone between the establishment of a huge monopoly in the northern district and the interests of the whole of our people."

Why, oh why, did not Mr. Fuller tell the coal proprietors and the public before that the Government was on this account prompted to deprive the coal proprietors of their ordinary trade and confer it on Mr. Brown. The coal proprietors are, I admit, not altruists, but they are sometimes moved by national sentiment. If they had been appealed to on these grounds who can say that they would not have relinquished all opposition. A grateful public is far too apt to forget these self-sacrificing episodes. It was 20 or 30 years ago, it is true, that it took place, and it turns out that the public benefactor was not the present John Brown, but his respected parent. No matter, it was one of the family, and, of course, it would be manifestly just that Mr. Brown the son should be rewarded to the extent of a fortune for this noble action of his ancestor.

Mark again the latter reason referred to by Mr. Fuller—he "was not at all sure there was not an idea in the mind of the Government," etc. Mr. Fuller, including Mr. Holman and Mr. Grahame, seems to have had a mind which was floating about in all directions; nothing was certain, everything more or less nebulous, saving and except there was ever and always a general undercurrent which depicted Mr. Brown with a halo as the one man who was saving the country from the tyranny of a huge monopoly. It is a pity that Mr. Fuller should so belittle himself and imperil his political future by talking such utter nonsense. The public are not children. The coal proprietors, and the commercial public more especially, will only accept these remarks with well-merited derision.

Mr. Fuller says it is not an unprofitable contract to the State. I say that unless altered it is, both in regard to royalties and freight. One of Mr. Brown's mines is a freehold (Richmond Main), that pays no royalties. As to freight, because had the coal been supplied by other collieries as heretofore a great deal of it would pay is 3 1-3d per ton, whereas Mr. Brown, having his private line, will, according to Mr. Fuller, only pay 11d per ton, a loss of 4 1-3d. If he ships at Hexham the whole freight is lost. I know what I am writing about, and every coal proprietor knows that what I say is correct. There are other inaccuracies in Mr. Fuller's statement, but let them pass. As I have said before, the public will never understand the Government's action, and now that Mr. Fuller has furnished his explanation they are just as perplexed as ever.

So far as I am concerned this letter concludes my association with this distasteful matter, at any rate so far as newspaper correspondence is concerned. Suffice it to say, by way of conclusion, that if the controversy leads to the stoppage of these sensational contracts, which are condemned by Press and public alike, the criticisms will not have taken place in vain. I am, etc.,
E. P. SIMPSON.
Feb. 4.

Defects in the Glebe tram service are indicated in a letter from "Working Girl." She says that even between 5 and 6 p.m. she has had to wait as long as 15 minutes for a tram, which is almost invariably heavily overcrowded, and the service into the city is equally inadequate.

The Tea Without the Dust
Bushells Tea

Bushells is Real Tea

Real, because it's cleaned and freed from the injurious tannin dust that is left in ordinary Teas. Multi-refining by Bushells recent mechanical invention has brought this new kind of healthful Tea into being.

You have noticed this dust in the old common Teas. You couldn't help seeing it!

Think what this dust-freed Tea means to you! No more rank bitterness; no more unhealthy tannin dust; no more paying for surplus weight that is not good Tea—for 4 cups when the same money buys 5 cups.

Just imagine the greater richness of flavour of Bushells without this bitter tannin dust to spoil the refreshing and stimulating power of the beverage.

When you think of the thousands of cups of Tea you drink in your life, and the quantity of injurious dust which you may absorb, you will realise how important it is for the health, of yourself and your family, that you should always use Bushells.

Bushells TEA

THE FIGHT WITH THE SUBMARINE.

The statement of the First Lord of the Admiralty that the Allies are now destroying submarines as fast as the Germans can build them is the most encouraging that has been published since the beginning of the campaign a year ago. Its value is increased by the character and previous statements of the First Lord and by the circumstances in which it was made. Sir Eric Geddes has persistently warned his countrymen against being depressed or elated by a rise or fall in the weekly lists of sinkings. He has satisfied them that his advice has never been coloured by a desire to score some point in domestic politics or to depress the enemy. In his official speech on November 1 he gave grounds for hope by his analysis of German exaggerations and by his assurance that since the beginning of the war fully 50 per cent. of the submarines operating in the Arctic, the Atlantic, and the North Sea had already been captured or destroyed. He corroborated the substance of his speech by an answer to an obviously prearranged question given later in the month. But both in the speech and the answer he insisted in general terms that the attack was not yet held and in particular that the Germans were sending out submarines faster than the Allies were destroying them. The announcement now made through an interviewer tells us that the advantage which the Germans retained on November 17 has at last been taken away from them. Henceforward they will fight with the stock of submarines which they accumulated while victory was, on the whole, on the side of the offensive. They will not add to them, and the Allies will look forward to the development of new instruments of destruction while their merchant ships are providing themselves with additional means of escape. The activity of the fleet of submarines at present in existence must obviously make the need for economy in the use of food and for energy in the production of ships as urgent as it has ever been. The discovery of a means of dealing with the pest by something like a counter offensive is nevertheless a decisive blow to one series of German hopes. Large numbers of Germans have thought that the submarine had given them a weapon which would reduce Great Britain to impotence in future wars, and the fear of which would keep her out of continental alliances. Admiral von Tirpitz and his friends have thought that the possession of the Belgian coast was necessary to the full success of their schemes; many others have believed that even without annexations in Europe they could break up the present alliance and render others impossible. These hopes would not have been banished by ship-building and economy, even though Great Britain and her Allies had been saved from starvation. They will not survive the knowledge that means have been found which will protect commerce by destroying submarines. The Germans will still do their utmost to prevent the passage of reinforcements of food and of material from one ally to another, but their hope of destroying the British supremacy at sea will be as remote as their hope of reducing England by starvation in three months.

The German Admiral who is reported to have described the submarine campaign as a failure is clearly as far from telling the whole truth as the admirals, princes, and generals who declared some months ago that it had already made them certain of final victory. The submarines had as much to do with the Italian defeat as the Austrian pamphlets. They helped to popularise the legend of an avaricious and over-fed England, which seems to have gained a temporary hold over a few regiments of the Italian army. In France they added greatly to the sufferings of the people, and caused them to look to England for help which they had expected to receive from the United States. Their effect on the position of the British people has been illustrated in many recent cablegrams, more particularly in those which describe the arrangements made, and to be made, for the distribution of food. Unquestionably the hope of starving England might have been realised but for the foresight and determination of the Prime Minister. The strain which he foresaw has been increased by bad weather and by the requirements of France and Italy; but it will never now approach in severity the conditions which have been borne by the German people for two years past, or even those which have been suffered more recently by the people of France. The danger to be feared now is the suspicion that one class is being treated more indulgently than another, and this will be met by the system of compulsory rations now in course of preparation. By their destruction of transports and merchant vessels the submarines have reduced the commercial tonnage of Great Britain by 2½ million tons, which, when the splendid work of the ship-builder has been accounted for means a net reduction for the whole war of 14 per cent. Obviously the value of this reduction can only be judged by its influence on the armies and civil population of the Allies. Whatever estimate of this influence may be accepted no German will now imagine that it can counter-balance the intervention of the United States which the campaign of ruthlessness finally provoked. The hope that the United States would never land troops in Europe has been finally dispelled by the arrival of the two greatest German liners converted into American transports. Behind them come the ships which have been built in spite of disturbances and disappointments by the application of the enlightened methods of commerce to the business of war. The submarines have inflicted great loss and suffering on the Allies but the permanent result of their campaign of ruthlessness has been to ensure the defeat of Germany, while leaving the power of their chief adversary unharmed.

WHEAT AND THE FUTURE.

With the State Parliament in session an opportunity occurs to give the position of the wheat-growing industry of New South Wales the prominence it deserves. The immediate handling of the State's wheat is a Government matter; and a member of the State Government has suggested that our wheatgrowers should seriously consider the advisableness of abandoning the industry for stock-raising. This is mentioned in the present connection because we must regard it as an indication of the mind of the Government, and because there is the possibility that Ministers are beginning to realise the hopelessness of going forward unless something radical is done. Rain now is threatening to ruin a good deal of this season's wheat. Our estimated harvest is some forty-seven million bushels; and under ordinary conditions it would be merely a question of bagging and stacking—with the rain as a factor to be faced. But these things involve bags and hands to hold, fill, and stack them against the weather. To-day the rain simply adds a load to an already heavy handicap in the lack of bags, the shortage of labour, and the impossibility of getting the wheat to market under any conditions. Looked at in one way these minus signs in handling wheat would seem to bow it out of the list of profitable products right away; and perhaps the Government if forced to give an opinion would confess that it does not know what to do. The Federal Government is building silos; but there is no comfort in the fact, as no silo will be ready to save this season's wheat now in so many cases lying upon the ground a prey to wet and weevils. Moreover the great bulk of the wheat of past seasons bought by the British Government is still undelivered and crowds the sheds which should be available for the new grain. It does not need much writing to show the unsatisfactory state of wheat-growing in New South Wales; and discouragement increases in view of the conditions under which the cereal, even when harvested and stacked, is being financed. The area under wheat has decreased because the farmer in many cases cannot see his way to continue growing under a guarantee of 4s per bushel; and, in addition, the Federal Government has not been able to arrange for the final sale of this season's wheat, and future finance, to cover a higher price, in consequence does not seem easy. We put the whole case in these terms to give our readers a chance of thinking out one of the State's most difficult problems for themselves. Parliament is sitting; and the man on the land has been engaged for some time with wheat complications. For ordinary folk it may seem enough that the right people are doing something, if only thinking; and then it will be argued, perhaps, that Parliament can do the rest. But all the people who do not grow wheat, although all of them require it in some shape or form as food, may be reminded that the whole business of its production is just as vital to them as to the man on the land. We must continue to grow, and as much as possible, for the reasons that the world wants it—all we can produce, and that our mounting debts will only be served as we bend all our energies and every faculty to the increase of our natural wealth.

Wheat production undoubtedly is a very thorny business now that the war has shut down upon the marketing of it; and as a result of the lack of ships a crowd of misfortunes has come upon us—pests, shortage of material, and a constricted money market. Moreover, wheat cannot be handled like wool, butter, meat, jam, and other commodities, in that it is perishable where they are not. In some respects it is less perishable, if dealt with in the right way and at the right time. We have an expert now amongst us whose special business it is to tell us the right way to deal with weevils; and the British Government is behind him as concerned in its own nearly 2,500,000 tons of wheat stacked in sheds that ought to be empty. But the wheatgrower is not organised like the woolgrower; and his experience of the State Government as a substitute for organisation has been a bitter one. He does not get the same money, or backing, or much-needed help in an emergency like the present—with high prices as with wool making up for a hundred small losses and disappointments. So that if the State Government is in a coil over wheat, and the wheat-grower is disheartened, we must confess that New South Wales is in a very bad way on this side alone. But the State Government can probably show that the position is not hopeless, but that a complex of conditions, such as shortage of labour, shortage of bags and material, mice, weevils, and rain will take a lot of managing. We do not want attacks upon the Federal Government in this connection. Let us see exactly what the State has done, what it proposes to do, or if it proposes to do nothing. The thought comes that there is room for a Royal Commission in all this; but unfortunately that way lies perdition if handled by the usual method. We should not have a report until long after the Federal Government's silos were built. Yet some modification should be possible. A committee of representative business men and wheatgrowers would soon indicate the crucial questions for the State Government to answer; and if the further question of hearty co-operation with the Federal Government had to be dealt with the committee would still be able to speak its mind. At any rate the people of this State ought to know exactly where they stand. It would be a fatal mistake to let wheat-growing slip out of our great industries; and it would be almost as bad if the thing were done without getting the average man interested in the subject. The great authorities on wheat as a world product insist that it must be grown in the largest possible quantities here and elsewhere. They agree that it will be a profitable business for some time to come for the grower; and New South Wales has therefore every incentive to increase her areas to the fullest limit. How the wheat already grown is to be handled, stored, and finally marketed is another matter—that is where the people capable of dealing with it must come in. And the State Government as standing in the way, or as moving if that be the truth, must give the word which shall restore a confidence already badly shaken. Let Parliament face the wheat question without delay, and the skill and common sense inherent in an Anglo-Saxon community will soon respond to any strong lead offered by its constitutional advisers.

WAR CABINET.

WELLINGTON, Monday.

New Zealand will be represented at the Imperial War Cabinet and conference by Mr. Massey and Sir Joseph Ward, in view of which a short session of Parliament will be held, opening about April 3.

STATE PARLIAMENT.

Having got the censure motion out of the way, both Houses of the State Parliament will now be asked to push on with the special legislation for which they were called together. So far as the Legislative Assembly is concerned, only two bills, amendments to the Arbitration and the Gas Acts, will be pressed to finality. The Upper House, however, has quite a number of bills left over from last year with which to deal. Among these is the Judges Retirement Bill, which it is expected will be taken up by Legislative Councillors immediately. Under ordinary circumstances the session might have been expected to last at least two months. But by the provision of extra sitting days, the Government hopes to be able to close up early next month at latest. This week the Legislative Assembly will sit four days, and from next week there will be five sitting days per week until the work is done.

Up till 6.30 this evening is "private members' night." After the dinner adjournment the Government will introduce the first readings of three bills—arbitration, gas, and early closing amendments. They are all in the hands of Mr. Beeby, but only the first reading stages will be taken. On Wednesday Mr. Beeby will move the second reading of the Arbitration Bill, and will enter into a lengthy explanation of the measure, which is awaited with much interest. An arrangement has been made with the Opposition that the debate will then be adjourned for one week, to give members a chance to study the bill, which will be distributed. The House will then go on with the successive stages of the other bills.

INCOME TAX RETURNS.

COUNTRY DELINQUENTS.

TEN THOUSAND SUMMONSES TO ISSUE.

To-morrow is the last day for sending in State income tax returns without incurring a penalty. Those who are in receipt of a salary only and whose income does not exceed £200 need not make a return. All persons in business, irrespective of the amount of income, must furnish a return, otherwise they render themselves liable to prosecution.

In the course of a statement the Chief Commissioner of Taxation, Mr. Whiddon, said the returns were coming in generously, the taxpayers seeming to rise to their responsibilities in a very commendable manner. The returns already received are largely in excess of those received during a similar period of last year.

Every effort, said Mr. Whiddon, had been made by the department to ensure that those taxpayers who had been lagging in the past so far as making income tax returns were concerned would be fully brought to book. During last year numerous prosecutions were instituted, running into, perhaps, thousands, against those people who had systematically avoided their obligations. So far prosecutions had been confined to the metropolis and suburbs, but Mr. Whiddon states that the country is now to be exploited. As a matter of fact, some 9000 or 10,000 summonses are about to be issued against country delinquents. It is the intention of the department to send out a number of investigation officers to the country during the coming 12 months. Their efforts will be solely in the direction of discovering persons who have essayed to "dodge the department."

It may be mentioned that the assessment notices will be issued about May 14, and payments must be made before June 6 to ensure escaping the payment of a fine as well as the income tax. Thus, taxpayers have practically four months from the time of making their return to the due date for payment of the tax.

GERMAN EAST AFRICA.

A COMPLETE VICTORY.

GENERAL VAN DEVENTER HONOURED.

PIETERMARITZBURG, Dec. 27.

It is gratifying to be able to announce that German East Africa is now ours, and that the object of this long-drawn-out struggle has at length been accomplished. It has a seaboard of 400 miles, and is twice the size of the Fatherland itself. Of the enemy forces none remain in German East Africa, and General Von Lettow is a fugitive, with 200 white and 1500 black troops, in the happy hunting ground of Portuguese East Africa.

The rounding-up of the German fugitives should, of course, be Portugal's job. I suppose we must allow for the fact that the Iberian Republic is at present in a state of upheaval, but in any case "our ancient ally" is no match for the Hun, not even for the fugitive Hun, and British forces are now chasing Von Lettow a good many miles south of the river Rovuma, which is the Porto-German boundary. The position, therefore, is that the campaign in German East Africa is ended, and that General van Deventer's success is only incomplete in so far as he has had to leave German territory to enter the Portuguese province of Mozambique in order to round up the flitting German remnant. Like the brave Nervii, who were exterminated by Caesar, Von Lettow has declared, so it is said, that he will die rather than surrender.

The final smashing blow for the enemy was, of course, the enveloping of Commandant Tafel's western force of 2000 rifles. This envelopment was due to the combined and skilful strategy of Generals Deventer and Northey. The latter attacked Tafel so strongly that he was compelled to move down south, where he vainly strove to join up with Von Lettow. Instead of doing this, Tafel crossed the track of Deventer's leading columns, and so, finding no outlet, he surrendered unconditionally on November 27—exactly a month ago.

The British successes in the operations during the month of November sealed the defeat of the German forces. During the month we captured 1212 European troops, 3191 Askari troops, three field guns, and 35 machine guns. During the two months of October and November the results were that an area of 300 by 500 miles of enemy territory was cleared of the enemy, and 54 machine guns captured, besides two 4in guns, nine field guns, and one howitzer. Previous to his surrender Tafel had destroyed 30 machine guns and two small field guns. During these operations the Belgians have been co-operating with General Northey's force.

German East Africa being now in complete British occupation, General Deventer has been able to demobilise a large portion of his forces. Practically all the South African units are returning to the Union, and several have already done so. The 8th South African Infantry has returned, and has been disbanded at Pretoria. The troops had a good deal to say about their second visit to German East. They say it has been nothing but fight, fight, fight, and fever, fever, fever, all the time, and with no respite. But I think the fever has been far and away their worst enemy. They say it has been bush fighting all the way, and that most of the time they could not see 20 yards in front of them. The country is a bad malarial one, and, although they were on this occasion well looked after in the matter of food, they say they had a rougher time than in the first year of the campaign, and practically everyone had fever at one time or another.

With severe fighting day after day through hill and bush, they simply wore the Germans down. Such is their report. The men of the 8th express themselves as being keen on volunteering for service in Europe, but they will take a long time to recuperate in order to be fit. The colonel commanding the 8th Regiment bears the appropriate army name of Atkins. He is a Tipperary man, and commenced his military career in the Cheshire Regiment. He served through the Boer war, and has been continually at it since the present world conflict began.

Dar-es-Salaam has been for most of this month a happy huge camp of returned victorious troops. They all deserve rest and recuperation, and a reception of the best.

The conquest of German East Africa, though accomplished at last, has not been marked by any dramatic finale, but, however long or short a time it may be before we are able to capture or otherwise dispose of Von Lettow and his few followers now "roaming in the gloaming," it is a matter of comparatively little importance.

There has been no official celebration in South Africa of the conquest of German East Africa. There should be some celebration considering the leading part that South Africa has taken in it, but I presume the Government want to get Von Lettow—alive or dead—before they ask the people to celebrate the victory. There has, however, been an early celebration at Durban, which enjoyed a festal half-holiday all on its own.

His Majesty the King honoured the conquest of the last German African possession by conferring upon General van Deventer the Knight Commandership of the Bath.

CORNSACKS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The inquiry concerning the causes of the recent shortage of cornsacks was opened by the Federal Prices Commissioner, Mr. Whitton, to-day, and was adjourned.

NEXT WAR LOAN.

ALTERNATIVE RATES OF INTEREST.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Preparations are being made for the early issue of the prospectus for the next war loan. The last Liberty Loan, which was reopened to enable contributions to be received from farmers when payments were made for wheat and wool, will be closed probably one day this week, and the prospectus of the new loan will, it is expected, be issued shortly afterwards.

The Treasury officials have been considering and making calculations regarding alternative rates of interest, and it is considered likely that when the new loan is offered investors will be given the opportunity of purchasing stock at a higher rate of interest, but subject to income tax, or at the old rate of 4½ per cent. free of income tax. The Treasury officials are reticent as to what the new rate will be, but it is thought probable that it will be about 5½ per cent., subject to income tax. Complaints have been made in connection with old loans, where a fixed rate of interest has been offered free of income tax, that this was to the advantage of the large investor, for whom freedom from income tax has been equal to a considerable increase in the rate of interest paid on the loan. For the small investor the rate of his tax is so much less that the immunity from taxation is of little or no advantage to him. With an alternative scheme, the small investor would be able to purchase his bonds or stock bearing the higher rate of interest.

It is understood that Cabinet has not yet ratified the proposal to offer alternative rates of interest for the new loan. It is possible that the details indicated above may be revised when the matter is discussed, probably on Thursday.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir William P. Cullen, will unveil an Honour Roll at the Redfern Town Hall at 3.30 p.m. to-morrow.

Mr. W. A. Watt, Federal Minister for Works and Railways, returned to Melbourne last night.

Mr. Joseph Cook, Minister for the Navy, will leave for Melbourne to-night, expecting to return to Sydney again at the week-end.

The Lord Mayor, Ald. J. Joynton Smith, M.L.C., commenced his official duties at the Town Hall yesterday by presiding at the meetings for the election of committee vice-chairman for the year.

Sir Robert Philp, ex-Premier of Queensland, is on a short visit to Sydney, and is staying at Petty's Hotel.

Engineer-Lieutenant Denison, who was on H.M.A.S. Sydney when the Emden was destroyed, is, with Mrs. Denison, visiting Sydney. They are at Petty's Hotel.

A special meeting of the 36th (Riflemen's) Battalion Comforts Fund Committee was held at 109 Bathurst-street on Friday. The object was to tender a reception to Captain Carmichael, M.C., M.L.A., on the evening of February 16. It was decided that the welcome be held in the large hall of the Conservatorium, and Mr. A. Stanley Warwick (registrar) promised to arrange the musical programme. Invitations will be issued to the heads of all public bodies.

Owing to ill-health, Mr. F. R. Russell, chief inspector in New Zealand for the Loan and Mercantile Agency, has retired, and is succeeded by Mr. Clarke Johnson. Mr. Russell and his family are returning to Victoria shortly.

LORD MAYOR'S FUND.

SENATOR MILLEN'S SUPPORT.

Letters approving of the performances and proposals of the Lord Mayor's Patriotic Fund, and urging a generous response to the appeal for £150,000, wherewith to carry on for another year the work of assisting the dependents of New South Wales men on active service, are reaching the committee of the fund. Yesterday the following letter came to hand from Senator Millen, the Federal Minister for Repatriation, who has always taken the keenest interest in all matters affecting the welfare of the Australian soldiers:—

"My dear Lord Mayor,—The purpose of your projected appeal should be its chief and wholly-sufficient recommendation. When the war broke out there was a widespread and general declaration by Australia that it would look after the wives and dependents of the soldiers fighting in its defence. That spontaneously-recognised and generously-accepted responsibility remains. It is not diminished by reason of the war continuing longer than was anticipated.

"Its continuance makes further demands upon us, as it is making further but infinitely greater calls upon those who are fighting, suffering, and enduring on our behalf. They have not failed, and will not fail, in their self-accepted and gigantic task. Shall we fail in our comparatively light one?

"I confidently hope that by the response to your appeal the people of New South Wales will demonstrate in a practical fashion their recognition of the gallantry of their soldiers, and, at the same time, faithfully redeem the pledge given to them.

"Yours sincerely,
"(Sgd.) E. D. MILLEN,
"Minister for Repatriation."

BONDI COMMITTEE.

The Bondi committee will form a committee of ladies to-night. A meeting for the purpose will be held at Savill's Cafe, Bondi Beach, at 8 o'clock.

AMERICAN-BUILT SHIPS.

REQUEST FOR AUSTRALIAN CREWS.

A matter which has come in for a good deal of discussion in union circles lately, and in which the members of the Federated Seamen's Union are directly interested, is the question of manning the ships which are now being constructed in America for the Federal Government. It is contended that these vessels should be manned and officered by Australians.

Mr. A. Cooper, general secretary to the Seamen's Federation, is in receipt of a communication from Mr. A. H. Gibson, secretary to the Victorian branch, requesting that the executive council should take immediate steps to approach the Commonwealth Government for the purpose of seeing that the vessels now in course of construction in the United States, to the order of the Commonwealth Government, should be officered and manned by Australian seamen. It was suggested that the necessary men should be selected in Australasia, and then sent to America to bring the ships to Australia. Mr. Gibson added that the transports from Australia to Great Britain, under the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth, were manned by members of the Australian Seamen's Union. The vessels now being constructed in America were the property of the people of Australia, and therefore should be manned by Australian seamen, who had an equal interest in them with the other citizens of the Commonwealth. Seamen who shipped here for oversea service were risking their lives just as much as the soldiers, because they had to go into the submarine zone, and, in addition to this, at least 3000 of their members had already enlisted.

Officials of the union contend that it would be cheaper to send Australian seamen to America to man the American-built vessels than to repatriate the foreigners, who would otherwise have to bring the vessels here. It was also stated by the officials that there were very few native-born Americans in the American ships which were now coming to Sydney and other Australian ports.

SIR JOHN DENNISTON RETIRES.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Monday.

Sir John Denniston has resigned from the Supreme Court Bench. He is succeeded on the Bench by Mr. A. L. Herdman, member for Wellington North, Attorney-General in the National Government.

SOCIALIST ATROCITIES IN FINLAND.

History is rushing on at such a breakneck pace in Eastern Europe that one grows breathless in pursuit. Things that have happened in Finland, within 100 miles of Petrograd, would in other conditions have marked an epoch, writes the Petrograd correspondent of the London "Daily Telegraph," but now they are mere details in the general flux of traditions, laws, manners, and politics. Finland is the most democratic country in the world, but is not sufficiently democratic for its own Socialists. The new Diet elected in place of the predominantly Socialist Diet dissolved last August has a small anti-Socialist majority. The first step of the Socialists was to demand the immediate confirmation of bills adopted by the last Diet, among which was the Independence Bill, which led to the Diet's dissolution by the Russian Government. The majority deferred consideration of the question; thereupon the Socialists decided to apply force.

The upheaval in Petrograd favoured their plans, and at the end of November they declared a general strike throughout the country. They had organised a "Red Guard" of workmen, who secured arms from the Russian garrison and fleet, and the strike became a revolution. The middle classes organised a "White Guard" of students and others to support the police, but the Red Guard often seized Government buildings, arrested a large number of officials, police, and prominent citizens, and, under the pretence of searching for arms, broke into houses and robbed and murdered throughout the country. In frequent skirmishes between the Red and the White Guards many were killed and wounded, and a large number of peaceful citizens suffered. In the course of the search for arms roving bands seized large sums of money at country estates.

The actual strike lasted four days, and the Diet was compelled to yield. The semi-Socialist Agrarian party went over to the Socialists, and a majority was secured in favour of the immediate adoption of the Independence Bill, which gives the Diet and the Government elected by it supreme power within Finland in place of the Russian authorities. The Senate or Government resigned, and the Socialists wished to elect a "Red" Senate in its place, but since the majority of the Diet was strongly anti-Socialist such a Government would be wholly unconstitutional. The officials refused to work under such conditions, and the present political situation is an impasse. The Socialist leaders, having organised and armed the roving bands of marauders who now infest the country, disclaim responsibility for their acts of brutal violence. The Russian authority in the country is now represented only by the garrison and the fleet, who are hated by the peaceful population, because of the assistance they gave to the Socialists. The Governor-General, Nekrasoff, left Helsingfors during the Bolshevik disturbances at Petrograd, and has not returned since. The Assistant Governor-General, Baron Korff, had previously resigned. The garrison and fleet committees have gone through the farce of electing a sailor as Governor-General! A number of the imprisoned citizens have been released, but bands of the Red Guard are still robbing and murdering in various parts of the country.

Stories illustrating the methods of the Red Guard are vividly told by the novelist Juhani, who is in Helsingin Sanomat. He writes:—

I did not actually see the murder of M. Bjon at Malm, near Helsingfors, but I feel as though I had been an eye-witness. Brigands of the Socialist revolutionary organisation came to his house, led him out, and ordered him to come to the Malm Picture Palace, which they had seized and made their centre. M. Bjon was a Swede, and knew no Finnish. He hesitated to follow them, because he could not understand their object. Then they changed their minds, placed the old man against the wall of his own house, and paraded before him. Then they fired at him seven shots. The wife of the murdered man heard the shots, ran out, and saw her husband lying with his face to the ground. She tried to carry the body away, but could not. She cried, "Isn't there one man who will help me?" The murderers laughed with that peculiarly Finnish coarse, grating laughter, the like of which I have never heard among any other people, and walked off. The wife stood weeping beside the corpse. Then a helper came who was not a Russian soldier—a tender-hearted, gentle Russian soviarisch (comrade). He helped M. Bjon's widow to carry the body into the house. The murdered man was a teacher in an elementary school. In another case M. Bergbom, the master of an old estate at Hertonnaes, a quiet, kindly old man, was sitting at lunch with his family, when in burst seven Red Guardsmen, shouting "Hands up!" M. Bergbom, who was hard of hearing, on seeing the intruders asked, "What are they saying?" In reply he got a bullet in his forehead and fell dead, blood spurting from the wound.

These instances are typical of scores which took place, and are still taking place all over Finland. All the Finnish parties claim the independence of their country, but there is a bitter outcry against such methods of winning it. The food shortage, which is used by the Socialists as a means of agitation, has, through their action and the action of their friends the Russian Bolsheviks, become gravely critical.

NOVEL EVICTION METHODS.

REMOVAL EXPENSES ALLOWED.

Trouble is being experienced by the Harbour Trust and the Resumed Properties' Board in collection of the rents from tenants of the State in the dwelling-houses situated on the water-front. The inevitable result of the strike last year was that a large number of waterside workers found themselves unable to get their old jobs back. Many of these sought and obtained other employment, but a number are still on the unemployed market. In the great majority of these cases little or no rent has been paid for some considerable time. When the board took action, and issued a number of notices to quit, an outcry arose against turning these people into the streets workless and homeless. The board declared that all they wanted was some kind of an undertaking from those who were badly in arrears that they recognised their debt, and that they would make some effort to meet their obligations. With the exception of a few cases this undertaking was given.

Now the Government is faced with the problem that a few of their tenants who are very much behind with their rent do not evince any real desire either to recognise or liquidate their liability. The rent owing amounts in some cases to £30. The position is further complicated by reason of the fact that there are a number of waterside workers in permanent jobs who find it necessary to live in close proximity to their work, and who cannot get houses to live in, notwithstanding that these houses were built for the express purpose of housing waterside workers. For a considerable time a number of them have been accommodated with tents at Dawes Point. Now word comes that the Federal Government requires the area on which they have been camped.

It was announced yesterday by the Assistant Treasurer, Mr. Fitzpatrick, that in several of the worst cases the Government has decided to allow sums ranging up to £3 to these people to cover the cost of their removals to other places of abode if they will only get out of the houses that are so badly required for people who are both able and willing to pay their rent. It has also been stated that they will not be pursued by the debt collector after they have removed elsewhere. It was stated that at least two of the people concerned have accepted the arrangement, but that one or two others have expressed their desire to stay on in their comfortable, rent-free abodes.

The Minister denies that any spirit of eviction can be charged against the Government. It is, however, thought to be good policy to get non-rentpayers out of the houses, even if the Government has to pay their expenses of removal.

THE "SYDNEY MAIL."

The disastrous results of the recent cyclone at Mackay, Queensland, are illustrated very fully in this week's "Mail." The pictures enable us to form some idea of the tremendous damage that has been done to the town, many of the principal buildings being masses of wreckage. There are also several illustrations in connection with the destruction of Halifax, the capital of Nova Scotia, details of which were cabled out to us at the time. Mr. T. J. M'Mahon continues his informative articles about German New Guinea, describing the social side of life under the new conditions, and warmly eulogising the Methodist missions and the work of the late Rev. Dr. George Brown. Some picturesque scenes on the South Coast of New South Wales are reproduced, and there are several notable photographs recently secured on Mount Kosciusko, showing vast expanses of snow, and visitors enjoying the unique experience of ski-ing in midsummer. Men on the land will be particularly interested in an illustrated article explaining what the official scientists are doing with the object of keeping down the blowfly pest, which has caused great losses in New South Wales and other parts of the Commonwealth. Pictures from the front, portraits of killed and wounded soldiers and of Australians who have gained honors on the battlefield, and many other illustrations make up an excellent publication.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS WAY.

(BY ARTHUR MASON.)

LONDON, Nov. 28.

It was to be a big House of Commons day. One of the biggest possible, in fact, for was not the position of Mr. Lloyd George as Prime Minister concerned in it, and with him the position of the Gvernment? For days the opponents of Mr. Lloyd George had been whipping up the excitement of the occasion. From their point of view, or by reason of their political manoeuvring of the moment, the Prime Minister's Paris speech announcing the new machinery of Allied army control was a blunder of the first magnitude, to be atoned for only by his ignominious overthrew. The scheme itself, they contended, was open to grave question, but the Paris speech, with its recital of failure after failure by the British command to accomplish its aims, with its extravagance of advocacy, and its incredibly bad taste, was altogether hopeless. Mr. Lloyd George, said his opponents in violent newspaper chorus, must go. And on the other side Mr. Lloyd George's friends, protesting him as indispensable, his Paris speech as capable of justification, and the Allied army control it foreshadowed as wholly necessary, fought the matter with equally loud-sounding trumpets and drums. Crisis or no, a big House of Commons day was assured.

By reason of the facilities now available to representatives of oversea journals for admission within the limited space of the House of Commons on big days, I was able to be present. The Chamber was crowded beyond its limits, so that members with no seats remaining to them upon the floor of the House, overflowed into side-galleries above. A strangely indecorous huddle of sitting and standing personages at one's hand was presently disclosed as some 50 peers of the realm, come from the House of Lords, thus to look down as best they might upon the scene below—Lords Curzon, and Bryce, and Reading (L. C. J.), and Burnham, and Buckmaster, and Rhondda, and Beresford, and Harcourt, and many others. In the Ambassadors' Gallery was M. Venizelos, no stranger to stormy scenes, and near him Colonel House and Admiral Sims, and others of the United States mission, and a row of the Ministers of various foreign countries. Interest was concentrated, however, upon the front benches below—the centre and focus-point, after all, of this really impressive scene of the crowded tier upon tier of seats stretching out and away from the Speaker's Chair, and all the paraphernalia about it of ceremony and authority which, like itself, was only to be half-discerned in the falling dusk of afternoon. And though upon one front bench eminent people like the Foreign Secretary, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the First Lord, and their colleagues, sat closely packed, and though upon the Opposition front bench the remnant of the late Cabinet and their fellows sat no less squeezed and diminished, there was yet room enough, it seemed, for others. Presently, into the midst of question-time, the Prime Minister entered, and place was found for him on the Treasury bench, and all around the Chamber ran the curious snarl of sound which is the House of Commons "cheer." And a little later Mr. Asquith similarly entered, and found place on the front Opposition bench to an exactly similar snarl which, though it might have meant anything at all was, in reality, a hearty welcome. And within a little while Mr. Lloyd George was announcing to the House—now absolutely still and breathlessly silent—the death at Bagdad of Sir Stanley Maude, and that in Palestine of one of its own members, Captain Neil Primrose, and Mr. Asquith was seconding his motion of condolence. In that sort of setting the House of Commons is perfect. The stillness of it, the crowd of faces, the half-light, the solitary figure standing near the great table, his quiet voice and measured words, make a singularly impressive effect, effect, too, which is invariably deepened by the calibre of the speeches on these occasions, and especially those of Mr. Asquith, whose beautifully ordered phrases and their perfect utterance are heard thus at a quite masterly level, and it was so once again, as so often before, on this occasion.

Then, without pause, the debate of the day was afoot. Mr. Asquith was again speaking, the atmosphere of the House had completely changed, the awaited attack upon the Prime Minister was about to be launched. You will long ago have read of it, and how it diminished into the mere shadow of what had been expected, and how the threatened crisis dissolved and vanished, and how Mr. Lloyd George achieved a complete Parliamentary victory. That result, as a matter of fact, was seen, by all of us who were there, to be obviously inevitable—as soon, that is, as we had gauged the method of Mr. Asquith's attack. And it was possible to gauge it almost at the outset. For this was no destructive thunder of onslaught upon an opponent marked down for extinction. It was not even a dangerous assault of him. From the beginning to the end of it, indeed, Mr. Asquith's speech was studiously unimpassioned. It took no rhetorical flights. It loosed no unexpected lightnings. It was slow, and grave. Its mere diction was always on the level which Mr. Asquith never fails to reach. It was finely constructed, and beautifully put, but there was no fire in it. Instead of the upheaval of remonstrance many had seemed to expect, we heard no more than coldly analytical, closely reasoned, cultivated criticism. The events and proposals which had been held by the opponents of the Prime Minister to constitute an unforgivable offence were seen now to draw nothing more deadly in reply than a first-class debating effort in an elaborately careful legal vein. Of course, Mr. Asquith made points. Of course he had the cheers of the House in his repudiation of any scheme for the shouldering-out of the British General Staff. Of course he was on strong ground when he insisted on the claim of the navy to a place in the new machinery, and the claim of British achievement in the battles of the Somme. He made many points indeed, but he did not make, nor did he attempt to make, an attack to the hilt, or in any way at all set himself to flatter the expectations of this affair as a political crisis.

Mr. Lloyd George's task was thus made quite easy for him. He had merely to insist vehemently on the theory of co-ordination of army control, with which theory everyone was already in agreement. He had merely to say that, though he had not mentioned it before, the navy was not forgotten in the new scheme. And further, as to the scheme itself, when he had declared that the Versailles Council will be merely advisory and not executive, then—and though it is still a matter of doubt as to what will happen if the British General Staff should disagree with a proposal from Varsailles and the Government should give its decision against the British War Office—the only questions before him on that point were all effectively disposed of. As to his extravagant statements in Paris, he merely said that he had made them deliberately, with the view of arousing the public; and at this point his triumph was complete. For the House broke into a roar of laughter, in which supporters and opponents equally shared, and from that onward the Prime Minister, with his well-known capacity for fiery speech, had the House of Commons in the hollow of his hand while with immense vigour of gesture and utterance he demolished all manner of persons who have been concerned in all manner of side-issue intrigues to discount him and overthrow him. It was all exceedingly clever, and very entertaining. But for myself, I could not help feeling that the entertainment of it was its most prominent quality. It was unquestionably a Parliamentary triumph. But, apart from the fact—which one is not likely to lose sight of here—that a Parliamentary triumph, even in such critical days as these are, sometimes routs and disposes of a great deal of unseen malignant force that is evilly employed—even allowing that, one was inclined to wonder whether this big House of Commons day quite fulfilled itself as a serious contribution to victory in the war.

TO FIGHT ON

OUR IMMEDIATE TASK

ALLIES AND PEACE

LONDON, Feb. 4.

The Press Bureau reports that the Supreme War Council at Versailles carefully considered the speeches of Count von Hertling and Count Czernin, but was unable to find an approximation to the moderate conditions laid down by the Allies. This conviction was deepened by the contrast between the Central Powers idealistic profession at Brest-Litovsk and their plans for conquest and spoliation now openly disclosed.

The Supreme War Council therefore decided that our immediate task is the most vigorous prosecution of the war, until a change in the enemy's temper justifies the hope of peace on terms not involving the abandonment of freedom and justice in the face of aggressive and unrepentant militarism.

The Council secured complete agreement on all questions, both as regards policy and measures for the execution thereof.

COMPLETE UNDERSTANDING.

A Paris report states that M. Clemenceau (Premier of France), commenting on the War Council's conference, said: "We worked and argued for four days. The last day was decisive. I am delighted at the results, which surpass my hopes. There was a complete understanding, even on the most delicate points."

The "Echo de Paris" says General Petain and Sir Douglas Haig will return to headquarters knowing that full accord has been established for the energetic prosecution of the war, and a clear understanding reached as regards what is necessary to meet the great German attacks which have been heralded.

The "Matin" says: A definite advance has been made towards moral and material cohesion. Important decisions have been taken, tending to extend the armies' fighting strength.

ENEMY'S STRENGTH.

FORCES IN WEST.

The "Daily Chronicle's" Paris correspondent says the German strength on the Western front is between 180 and 190 divisions. The former maximum strength was 155.

About 115 divisions are in the line, the remainder being held in reserve to resist a surprise attack

A division numbers 10,000, including 7500 infantry.

Sixty divisions of indifferent quality remain on the Russian front.

The correspondent of the United Press on the French front says the armistice with Russia enabled the Germans to increase their forces on the West front from 115 divisions to between 180 and 190. These forces are ready for a German offensive.

Germany's sixty divisions on the Russian front consist mainly of worn-out and decimated regiments

WESTERN FRONT.

BRITISH AIRMEN SCORE.

Sir Douglas Haig reporting at noon on Sunday stated: We repulsed a raid at Poelcapelle. Patrol encounters resulted to our advantage south of Lens. Hostile artillery has been active at La Vacquerie and south of Lens.

Sir Douglas Haig on Sunday night reported: We drove off raiders with loss eastward of Polygon Wood.

Hostile artillery has been active southeastward of Epehy, in the neighbourhood of the Arras-Cambrai road, southward of Armentieres, and in the Ypres sector.

Our aeroplanes yesterday dropped four tons of bombs on various targets, including the railway station and sidings at Valenciennes. Airmen fired several thousand rounds at the enemy in trenches and back areas.

We brought down five and drove down five enemy machines. One of ours is missing.

Our airmen bombed the enemy's aerodromes and billets last night.

The Admiralty reported on Sunday:—Our aircraft bombed Varssenaere aerodrome (south-west of Bruges) yesterday morning. A direct hit was observed. A fire broke out, which destroyed one enemy machine. All ours returned.

FRENCH REPORT.

A French communique on Sunday afternoon stated: There has been marked reciprocal artillery activity north of the Aisne and in the Four-de-Paris region. Enemy coups-de-main against a small post south of Lombaerdzyde, north of Hill 344, on the right of the Meuse, north of Bures (Lorraine) and on the Rhone-Rhine Canal region (Alsace), failed.

AMERICANS IN LORRAINE.

The American headquarters announce that American troops are located in Lorraine.

EAST AFRICA.

PURSUING THE ENEMY.

An official report on the East African campaign states: The Cape Coloured Corps occupied Nwembe unopposed, and pursued the enemy to Mtarika.

We seized Pumuni Hill, 45 miles inland from Port Amelia, capturing 30 tons of food. Later we occupied Ankwabe.

ITALIAN FRONT.

An Italian official report states: We brought down eight aeroplanes. The British brought down six.

PROGRESS IN PALESTINE.

An official report from Palestine states: We advanced slightly in the vicinity of Arnuties, northward of Jerusalem.

We destroyed 12 enemy aeroplanes during January.

GERMAN UNREST.

STRIKES SEEM DOOMED.

LONDON, Feb. 4.

Copenhagen advices state that the Majority Socialists in the Reichstag refuse to negotiate with the Government unless representatives of the workers participate in the conference.

The commander of Brandenburg states that any workers who do not resume on Monday will be court-martialled. The Court is authorised to impose the death sentence, which will be carried out within 24 hours.

Renewed rioting occurred in Berlin and suburbs on Saturday.

According to a message from Berne the "Frankfurter Zeitung" anticipated that the strikes would collapse during the weekend.

The "Daily Chronicle's" Amsterdam correspondent, cabling on Sunday evening, stated that the severity of the German censorship prevents readers of newspapers from gaining a precise idea of the course of the German strikes. The impression is that the strike is dying down everywhere. Apparently the Hamburg strikers are largely resuming under threat of military service. Reports from other centres, notably Bremen, indicate a resumption of work. The authorities have placed many Berlin war factories under military control.

Monday will probably be the decisive day, in view of the summary order to resume under threat of court-martial, but the strike at present seems doomed.

TROUBLE IN HOLLAND.

STRIKE THREATENED.

The correspondent of the "Daily Chronicle" at Amsterdam states that owing to the shortage of food and high prices, the revolutionary Socialists in Holland are organising a one-day strike for demanding the seizure and distribution of existing stocks, and the prohibition of food exports.

A later report from Amsterdam states that the Dutch Revolutionary-Socialist strike has strong support in Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and the Hague among local trade unions, but the Dutch General Federation holds aloof. The issue of the strike is at present problematical. Many expect a fiasco, but the authorities have taken precautions, fearing that the contagion may possibly spread. They have also removed the Amsterdam garrison, and brought in other troops.

KRUPPS' INFLUENCE.

A NEW DEPARTMENT.

A Zurich report states that Krupps, the armament firm, has purchased the Wolff Telegraphic Agency, controlling the German official news. They also have started two new companies to control the foreign news service and advertising business in the foreign Press, and to acquire foreign advertising business in German newspapers.

COMBING-OUT DISPUTE.

CONFERENCE SUGGESTED.

There is a growing opinion among the newspapers and the public that it is desirable that the Government should concede the engineers a separate conference on the application of the combing-out provisions of the Man-Power Bill, in order to avoid labour troubles.

It is suggested that Mr. Lloyd George should take over the negotiations.

A CRUEL ENEMY.

BRITISH SAILORS' SUFFERINGS

The "Merchant Service Review" vouches for the following story:—A large British cargo steamer was torpedoed by a submarine in December, and the crew took to the boats. The submarine shelled the boats, killing and wounding several in the captain's boat, and throwing the remainder into the water. The submarine fired twenty shells at the mate's boat, all of which missed. The occupants meanwhile were lying in the bottom of the boat. The submarine came up and ordered the castaways to reboard the cargo vessel. They covered the crew with rifles while they cross-examined them. The mate asked permission to succour the captain's crew, but this was refused.

The Germans looted all the navigation instruments, and ordered the survivors to reenter the boat. The mate visited the captain's boat, and found the captain severely wounded, washing about in the bottom of the boat. A seaman hung on to the gunwale, supporting an apprentice, who, however, was already dead. The castaways were many hours in the boat without food, and badly suffered from exposure until a patrol vessel picked them up.

GERMAN SCHEMES.

TO BEAT THE BLOCKADE.

A Washington report says the seizure by the United States Government of Hugo Schmidt's secret papers reveals how Germany frustrated the British blockade by sending hundreds of agents into enemy countries to establish banks and buy raw materials. Agents purchased United States cotton, British and South African wool, and Indian jute. The papers show that Germany bought a million dollars' worth of materials from unsuspecting Americans, Britons, Italians, and Scandinavians.

Schmidt was the New York agent of the Deutsche Bank, and was recently interned.

SOLDIERS INSULTED.

CLERGYMAN SENT TO GAOL.

The Rev. Groege Peet, a Wesleyan minister, at Castletown, in the Isle of Man, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labour for denouncing many soldiers as drunken, immoral, and profane scoundrels. He also expressed the hope that God would continue to sink our ships until He had knocked sense into our sinful hearts.

SOCIALIST CONFERENCE.

Difficulties have arisen in connection with the Allied Socialist-Labour Conference in London, arranged for February 20. The French minority section refuses to participate unless Russia and Italy attend. The Italians insist on the British Socialist Party's participation. The lastnamed are indignant, because they are not invited. America will not participate.

BOLO'S TRIAL.

A Paris message says Bolo's court-martial for treason opens on February 1. Public interest in the trial is most intense. It is expected that important facts hitherto unpublished will be revealed, especially the name of the French politician who is alleged to have been in communication with Count von Bernstorff, formerly German Ambassador at Washington.

EXPLOSION AT SHELL FACTORY.

A Paris message states that an explosion at a shell-fitting factory at Mulins killed ten people and injured many others.

RUSSIA.

THE NEW ARMY.

LONDON, Feb. 4.

A Petrograd report states that decrees establishing the new volunteer army have been published. It is styled the Red Army of Workers and Peasants. The men are paid 50 roubles monthly. Every volunteer must be recommended as a convinced revolutionary, prepared to give his life for the Soviet Government.

THE SOVIETS' POWER.

The "Daily Chronicle's" Petrograd correspondent says the all-Russian conference of Soviets concluded on Friday. Members were greatly exhilarated over the strikes in Germany, claiming that they heralded a revolution in Middle Europe.

The Bolsheviks are certain to retain power for three months till the next conference. A heterogeneous anti-Government block consists of fewer than 60. Two-thirds of the remaining 800 are Bolsheviks and Social Revolutionaries.

There are many internal differences among the Bolsheviks. For instance, the Petrograd delegates at a recent meeting of the caucus urged the virtual acceptance of Germany's terms. The Moscow delegates demanded a continuation of the war until more reasonable terms were obtained, but the party voted solidly at the conference.

As a result of the Soviets unearthing hidden foodstocks starvation has been staved off. The situation is now improved, and the bread ration has been increased.

SWEDISH STEEL.

FOR GERMAN WAR MACHINE.

It is suggested that the Allies should relax the blockade against Sweden, permitting the importation of wool and other raw materials, and also assisting to relieve the food shortage, in exchange for a larger share of Sweden's iron ore, of which Germany receives fourfold more than England.

A Copenhagen message says the Belgian socialists in an appeal to Swedish comrades point out that 65 per cent. of the steel used for German war material originates in Sweden. Without it the German Emperor could not prolong Belgium's martyrdom.

SIR FREDERICK SMITH.

A New York cablegram states that the British Embassy at Washington denies the report that Sir Frederick Smith (British Attorney-General), who was sent on a special mission to America, has been recalled to England.

WOMEN'S FRANCHISE.

A message received from the German members of the International Women's Suffrage Alliance expressing congratulations to British women on obtaining the franchise was read at the Lyceum Club, and was accorded a mixed reception.

SERIOUS FLOODS.

IN PORTUGUESE AFRICA.

CAPETOWN, Feb. 4.

Serious floods are reported from Beira, in Portuguese territory. The Pungwe River has inundated large tracts.

Railway communication with Rhodesia is cut off. Enormous damage has been done to sugar estates. The floods are increasing.

QUEENSLAND DISASTER.

SCHOONER ORETE STILL MISSING.

BRISBANE, Monday.

The Marine Board on Saturday advised that a telegram had been received from Mackay announcing the arrival of the overdue schooner Orete. The department stated to-day that it had now been advised by the Telegraph Department that the word "not" was omitted from the message. The effect of the message is that the Orete has not arrived. The Mackay Marine Department today received advice that the Orete was sheltering at Pine Island the night before the cyclone. The vessel was not seen the following morning. The missing vessel is in charge of Captain Anderson, and has a crew of five men.

A coach-driver, John Denham, attempted to cross Sandy Creek, 25 miles from Murgon, with a coach and three horses. The team-driver and his three horses were drowned.

The steamer Burwah will leave Brisbane for northern ports to-morrow, and, as the lighter is now available at Mackay, arrangements have been made to ship 100 tons of cargo to that port.

The Premier announced to-day that, after having received preliminary reports from the Minister for Public Instruction (Mr. Hardacre), who is at Rockhampton, and the Minister for Mines (Mr. Jones), who is at Mackay, the Government has decided to increase the amount that will be available for the relief of distress caused by the floods and cyclone in coastal districts to £10,000.

FITZROY FALLING.

ROCKHAMPTON, Monday.

The Fitzroy River is receding very slowly. There is still a great deal of water in evidence in East-street, and likely to be for a few days. Business places in Denham, William, and several other streets have resumed. A large number of men were employed during the day cleaning out the shops. The council put on large gangs to sweep the footpaths and gutters. Provided no further rain falls, it certainly looks as if the worst is over. The latest reading showed that the river here is 31ft 4in on the gauge. The river at Boolburra, Yaamba, and Rannes is falling slowly. In regard to the damage to property at North Rockhampton, it is satisfactory to know that up to the present only one house was carried away. This was a house on the river bank belonging to a man named Jones, and it has been carried on to the racecourse. It was fully expected, seeing the current in which they were standing, that several houses on the north side would have gone. On the other hand, it is definitely known that the contents of a number of houses in the flooded area have been badly damaged. The owners stacked them above what they thought was the flood level, but the unprecedented rise swamped them. Arrangements are now being made for the despatch of passengers and mails to the various outside districts.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A telegram received by the Secretary to the Postal Department, Mr. Oxenham, to-day gave details of the damage to the telegraphic service caused by the cyclone at Mackay and in other parts of North Queensland. The message states that very extensive damage was done throughout the Mackay district. One line had 400 poles down. The town network was all demolished, and quantities of wire were so cut and blistered as to be useless. It would evidently be some time before through communication with Mackay would be restored, and it would take a long period before all the damage done could be permanently repaired.

Advice just to hand from Proserpine showed that there had been a record rainfall of 42 inches from January 19 to January 23. The railway bridge over the Proserpine River was seriously bent.

PROMOTIONS.

Second-Lieut. W. A. Gregg, of the R.F.A., a son of Mr. James Gregg, of Burwood, has been promoted to lieutenant. Second-Lieut. H. R. Gregg, another son of Mr. J. Gregg, who has been convalescing in England, is acting as adjutant in the Royal Flying Corps at Wendover.

Mr. W. C. Cains, of 183 Old South Head-road, Waverley, has received information that his son, Norman Sydney Cains, who left Australia in May, 1916, as 2nd-lieut., has been promoted to the rank of captain.

A private cable has been received by Mr. F. Pickering, of Ashton-street, Waverley, from his son, stating that he had graduated pilot, and has been gazetted to the A.F.C., London. Prior to enlisting the young airman held a commission in the Randwick and Waverley Senior Cadets.

GERMAN PRISONERS ESCAPE.

FREMANTLE (W.A.), Monday.

While temporarily imprisoned in Fremantle Artillery Barracks awaiting shipment to New South Wales, two German prisoners escaped from custody on Saturday morning, and are still at large.

WAR NOTES.

NO PEACE YET.

Germany has had her answer—the only answer that could be given to Count Hertling's speech in the Reichstag. The Supreme War Council of the Allies, sitting at Versailles, has, after careful consideration of the recent speeches of Count Hertling and the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, Count Czernin, been unable to see any approximation to the terms the Allies have laid down. There is nothing for it, therefore, but a vigorous prosecution of the war. From historic Versailles one more historic message has gone forth—"Fight on." It is satisfactory to hear that the War Council has secured complete agreement on all questions of Allied policy. There are many, like M. Clemenceau, the French Premier, who believe that it would be wise to appoint a Generalissimo on the Western front, but there are certainly some weighty reasons against it, and on this point Mr. Lloyd George and M. Clemenceau have agreed to differ. The main thing, after all, is that the French and British armies—and we now have to add the American army—shall act as one; and that is possible without the appointment of a supreme commander. On both sides now we shall see intensified preparations for the coming struggle. President Wilson has expressed the opinion that this is the year of crisis, and he is no doubt right. Probably Lord Robert Cecil is also right when he says that the issue will be decided by the events of February, March, and April. As far as men are concerned—even if there is a patched-up peace between the Central Powers and Russia—the Allies ought to have the superiority in the West when the crash comes. According to the correspondent of the United Press Association, the present strength of the Germans on the Western front is from 180 to 190 divisions. Colonel Repington recently remarked that the Germans would probably have 220 divisions there soon. A British division is usually stated at 20,000, though in reality, with cyclists' corps and other attached units, it is now nearer 25,000. A German division, however, is only about half this strength. Reckoning a division at 12,000, we would get a German army of 2,000,000. If there is peace with Russia many more men would be thrown in. The Germans, if they were to bring a great concentration of artillery to bear, might conceivably break through at some part of the line; but if they did, could they go far? What we have to remember is that both sides have a wonderful network of railways behind the lines, and these would soon bring reinforcements. It is just here where the battleships of the air are going to come in, and they may decide the issue.

RUSSIA'S MEN OF MYSTERY.

In the fulness of time we shall understand, but it must be confessed that the mystery of Lenin and Trotsky, who are controlling the destinies of Russia to-day, is beyond our comprehension. The great puzzle is: Are these two men true Russians, striving to turn the revolution to the good of the country, or are they simply clever tools of Germany? Is the Brest-Litovsk peace conference, into the meshes of which these men are so anxious to inveigle the Allies, a genuine attempt to make a separate peace, or is it nothing more than bluff? Consider these two men. Lenin not very long ago travelled from Switzerland, through Germany, to Russia in a special car. He was reputed to be well supplied with German gold. He was generally regarded as a German agent whose business it was to turn the revolution to the best account and keep the Russian factions fighting among themselves. Trotsky, who had been obliged to leave Russia on account of his extreme views, was in America, working for a small salary on a New York newspaper with radical views. He was suddenly summoned by Lenin to go to Petrograd—to "help him out." At Halifax the British authorities detained him for some days, but finally allowed him to depart. So he gets to Russia and becomes Foreign Minister. It is unbelievable, but it is true. Ensign Krilenski becomes commander-in-chief of the Russian army. A sailor—some say a barber from one of Russia's warships—is made a Governor. The Constituent Assembly, sitting for the first time in Petrograd, is called to order by a Red Guard blowing a trumpet and announcing that "the guard is tired," and the House had better now adjourn. There are some protests, but at the threat of calling in the soldiers with their machine guns, the House adjourns. All things are possible in Russia. It is comic opera and tragedy in one.

LENIN'S STORY.

In December there appeared a remarkable account of Lenin in the London "Morning Post." It was written by "a Russian correspondent." Here is some of the story:—"Lenin—Ulianoff—Zederbaum, the present 'ruler' of Russia, is one of those mysterious personalities who have so often appeared in Russia during her recent history. Unable under the old 'regime' to carry on his Socialistic propaganda in the Russian Empire he took refuge in Austria, settling down in Galicia. He was in close relation with many members of the Social Democratic Party, amongst his friends being M. Malinovsky, the leader of the Bolshevik party in the Fourth Duma. Apart from Malinovsky, Lenin had other friends and accomplices, including one Furstenberg, a Polish Jew. While in Galicia Lenin entered into close relations with the leaders of the Ukrainian movement. It was a well-known fact that the Ukrainian (or Ruthenian) movement had been financed by the German Government. With the outbreak of war Lenin, being a Russian subject, was arrested by the Austrian police. He was, however, soon released at the instance of M. Daszynski, a member of the Reichsrath, who was unaware of Lenin's relations with Germany. Once free, Lenin proceeded to Switzerland, where he began his anti-Entente propaganda. Furstenberg went to Sweden on a similar errand. After the outbreak of the revolution Lenin, in a closed carriage, journeyed through Germany to Russia. The relations between Germany and Lenin were soon exposed. Lenin, Furstenberg, and many others were charged with being in touch with the agent of the enemy Powers, who provided them with money for propaganda amongst the population and army. They were also charged with organising an armed rising in Petrograd. Sensational evidence was brought forward after the arrest of a German spy named Kushnir, who was obliged to supply all secret news and to carry on a propaganda in Russia, with the object of concluding a speedy separate peace. Kushnir said Germany had sent 84 persons to spread pro-German propaganda all over Russia, amongst them being Zinovyeff, Trotsky, and Lenin. He did not remember all the names, but he said, in regard to Lenin, that 'for Lenin there is always ready cash in Germany, and he could get as much money as he might require from that source.'" What, then, are we to think of Lenin and Trotsky? Is the Brest-Litovsk conference, after all, only a gigantic piece of German bluff?

SCOTTISH WOMEN'S WAR HOSPITALS.

The above fund now stands at £7295 8s 8d, the following amounts having been received to date:—Ballina Branch Red Cross Society, £10; Miss Dibbs, R. Crawford, and Horwood and Co., £5 5s each; aldermen of the council of the municipality of Gunnedah, £3 15s; Mrs. P. B Fenwick, £2.

Contributions should be addressed to the hon. treasurers, Messrs. J. Russell French and H. H. Massie, 69 Phillip-street, Sydney.

REPATRIATION.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Representatives of the Chambers of Manufactures and Trades Halls from each of the States met to-day at the central offices of the Repatriation Commission for the purpose of arriving at a satisfactory basis of payment for returned soldiers while undergoing training in private workshops. Mr. J. B. Holme, Conciliation Commissioner for New South Wales, presided, and Mr. G. Musson represented the Repatriation Department. The conference is expected to conclude its deliberations to-morrow.

LATE WAR NEWS.

BRITISH LABOUR.

FOOD AND MAN-POWER.

LONDON, Feb. 4.

The National Union of Railwaymen at a conference at Leicester passed a resolution demanding all-round food rationing, and advising branches not to work on Saturdays, when members might stand in the food queues instead of women.

The "Daily Telegraph" says that though a demonstration in Glasgow yesterday denounced the Man-power Bill the general situation on the Clyde during the week-end improved. Meetings at various shipyards and engineering shops pledged themselves to support the Government.

A meeting at Newcastle supported the executive of the Amalgamated Engineers.

SUBMARINES.

CANNOT STARVE ENGLAND

An Amsterdam report says Capt. Persius, the German naval critic, in an article in the Prussian Year Book, says:—England cannot be starved. Even the German official utterances confirm this view, but it may be possible so to reduce the enemy that they will be unable to achieve complete victory. This is still a heavy task, owing to the increased efficiency of the anti-submarine measures and the increased output of enemy and neutral shipyards.

ZIONIST MISSION.

The British Government has approved of a Zionist mission to Palestine to investigate the measures necessary to strengthen Zionist colonies there, including the establishment of a Jewish university. Land already has been purchased for this purpose. Steps are being taken to prevent land speculation.

GERMAN COLONIES.

The German Union of South Sea firms has addressed a memorandum to the Reichstag as follows:—"If at peace the German Government consents to withdraw its flag from the Pacific Ocean, German world-activity will be irreparably restricted. Germany must possess her own stations on trade routes to prevent her enemies' blockade from retaining its effectiveness after the war. Possession thereof involves German prestige politically and economically. Germany's industry, shipping, and trade demand the retention of her former spheres of activity on the other side of the globe. These cannot be abandoned without immeasurable injury to German national economics."

SPAIN AND GERMANY.

A Madrid message says a Note to Germany in connection with the sinking of the Spanish vessel Giralda was despatched on Sunday. It demands an immediate answer. It is understood that, in addition to reparation, the Note insists on immunity for Spanish vessels trading between Spanish ports.

HONOURS FOR AUSTRALIANS

The following Australians and New Zealanders have been awarded distinctions:—

New Zealanders.—Captains R. C. Brewster, G. H. Gray, R. F. Mitchell; Lieutenants J. N. Hines, A. C. Hunter, H. Johnston, D. M'Cauley C. J. Pierce; Second Lieutenants, A. Farquhar, C. A. Gray, R. N. Gray.

BARS TO MILITARY MEDALS.

Australians.—Sergeants E. Fuller, A. J. M'Kinnon, R. H. Malcolm, J. R. Forrest, F. J. M'Ewan, R. Glessler, E. Wilkinson, H. J. Smith; Corporals A. Willingham, W. J. Cooper, P. Pratt, D. Fenner, T. J. Price; Privates F. Buckley, G. H. Beadle, E. M. Lucas, H. C. M'Alpine, T. Porter, C. Ellingsen.

Military Medals have been awarded to 463 Australians and 17 New Zealanders.

RECRUITING.

The official figures show that last week there were 348 volunteers in New South Wales, of whom 214 were accepted. This is an increase of 21 on the previous week's acceptances.

The following meetings will be held tomorrow:—

Martin-place, 1 p.m.: Sergt. Cross, D.C.M., Lieut. Litchfield, S. M. Urquhart, Lieut. Rickwood.

Mort's Dock, 12 noon: Sergt. Skinner, Sergt. Geoghan.

Redfern Town Hall (unveiling roll of honour of Redfern soldiers by Lieut. Gor), 3.30 p.m.: Lieut. Thomson.

Enmore Tram Terminus, 8 p.m.: Lieut. Littlejohn, Lieut. Rickwood, S. M. Urquhart.

RECRUITING RALLY.

A recruiting rally will be held in the Town Hall on Thursday night, when several returned officers of the A.I.F. will relate their experiences at the front. The chair will be taken by Mr. R. B. Orchard, M.P. A new war picture, "The Man who was Afraid," will be shown on the screen. The story, it is said, is an excellent lesson in practical patriotism. There will be no charge for admission.

To assist recruiting for the Australian Light Horse Brigadier-General J. M. Antill, of Menangle Park Light Horse Camp, is organising another gymkhana to be held on Friday, February 22.

SOLDIERS' FAMILIES.

SENATOR M'DOUGALL'S ALLEGATIONS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Inquiries have been made by the Repatriation Department into allegations made by Senator M'Dougall during the last sitting of the Senate that bitter distress prevailed in Sydney among the families of soldiers who were now at the front. He quoted a statement, among others, that "there are in New South Wales 1600 families of soldiers who are in need of food and clothes." The State War Council of New South Wales and the Lord Mayor's Patriotic Fund were immediately communicated with, and the reply received in each instance was that the assertions were "without foundation." The secretary of the State War Council, commenting upon Senator M'Dougall's statement, wrote to the Comptroller of Repatriation as follows:—"The condition of distress alleged by Senator M'Dougall to exist among soldiers' families would not be possible in this State without becoming a public scandal. I have had frequent opportunities of investigating cases which the Lord Mayor's Patriotic Fund might reasonably be expected to relieve, and almost without exception it has been ascertained that appropriate assistance has been afforded. An isolated case, however, may occasionally arise which, for some reason or another, has not been dealt with by the fund referred to, but when additional facts are brought to the notice of those administering the fund prompt and sympathetic treatment is accorded."

DREADFUL MILL ACCIDENT.

An elderly man, John Robertson, head miller at M'Corquodale's flour mills, Parramatta, was killed while working at the mills at about 1.30 on Monday morning. It appears that the wheat shoot was not working satisfactorily, and deceased went to adjust it. He got on a step-ladder, and was doing something to the shafting, when a projecting pin caught his shirt near the shoulder, and spun him round the shafting till he was strangled. In his struggles he kicked the belting off the pulley wheel, which stopped the machinery, and three or four minutes afterwards he was found hanging on the shafting, quite dead. Deceased was a married man, and resided with his wife and family in Union-street, Parramatta.

SHIPBUILDING.

AGREEMENT DEFENDED.

Mr. Donald Black, secretary to the Electrical Trades Union, who represented the New South Wales Unions at the recent Melbourne Shipbuilding Conference, said yesterday that there appeared to be a great deal of misconception regarding the scheme. It had been alleged by some union officials that there was a new agreement. No new agreement had been arrived at. The agreement which had been made between the Government and the shipbuilding delegates last week was the same agreement as was previously accepted by the unions who sent them to Melbourne. It had also been alleged that they had sacrificed the eight-hour principle. It was nonsense to say such a thing. Some had suggested that the agreement did not provide for preference to unionists. He would say most emphatically that it did. The allegation, that a provision whereby the tribunals could consider any increase in the cost of living had been omitted, was incorrect. The agreement still provided for the consideration of any increase in the cost of living. The assertions regarding industrial conscription were sheer nonsense. The unions were offered nothing less than that which was offered to them last July. The delegates would not have accepted the proposals if there had been any material alteration. Capital was attempted to be made out of the fact that the agreement provided that the wages should be calculated in the basis of Federal or State awards. The allegation that the interpolation of State awards constituted a departure from the agreement was nonsensical in the extreme because the principle of the contract was that the Government would pay the standard rates of pay as set out in the Arbitration Court awards. How could the Government determine the rates of pay to the essential shipbuilding unions in this State in Federal awards when as far as he knew there was no Federal award covering these industries? The whole of the iron trades were working under State awards, and the only method of computing the wages of the various classes of workers in this State on an award basis was to take the only awards, viz., the State awards. This exploded the contention that the Government had broken faith with the workers in guaranteeing to pay State award rates, seeing that there were no other award rates.

When in Lithgow Mr. Cook (Minister for the Navy) was interviewed by Mr. J. E. Dixon, secretary of the Lithgow branch of the Federated Ironworkers' Association, in regard to the shipbuilding proposals. Mr. Dixon assured the Minister of the branch's co-operation, though there was one clause in the agreement, which has not yet been signed, with which the union disagreed.

GRATITUDE OF THE FRENCH.

The following cablegram from Paris to the president of the French-Australian League of Help (Mme. Playoust) was received yesterday:—"Paris committee sends greetings and thanks, especially to Red Cross, Miss Evans, and helpers, for kindness shown French soldiers per El Kantara. (Signed) Maurice Barres, president F. A. League, Paris Dis. Committee."

Mr. Neville Mayman, president of France's Day, received the following cable message:—"The committee, fully realising their indebtedness to you for success of 'France's Day,' send gratitude. Maurice Barres, president."

B.M.A. AND THE LODGES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The conference between members of the State Cabinet and the council of the B.M.A., which will take place on Wednesday, is regarded with interest, as it is possible that it will afford a solution of the difficulties existing between the B.M.A. and the friendly societies. The Premier (Mr. Bowser) and the Attorney-General (Mr. Wynne) will represent the Cabinet, and they will meet the full council of the Medical Association. Last week the whole of the friendly societies requested the Ministry to take Legislative action to provide an arbitration tribunal, and should Wednesday's conference have no result the other question will come up for serious consideration. Though the resignations of the lodge surgeons took effect from February 1, the executive officials of the societies state that their lodge members are meeting the new conditions without complaint, and apparently with very little difficulty. Instructions have been issued to all members by their respective societies to restrict consultations as much as possible. For the time being expenditure that cannot be avoided is being paid out of the lodge "pools."

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN POLITICS.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The political situation is by no means clear yet. An agreement has been reached regarding immunity for coalition candidates in several districts. A deadlock has occurred in connection with the Central Districts of the Legislative Council, one of two seats now being occupied by Mr. Styles, who resigned from the Ministry in consequence of the report of the Land Deals Royal Commission. The Liberals stated they are determined not to accept him as a candidate, and the Nationalists are equally anxious he shall be retained. This difficulty puts the coalition in a delicate position, as the Liberals threaten to smash it if Mr. Styles is nominated. It is expected the matter will be settled this week.

HEAVY FINES FOR BETTING

ADELAIDE, Monday.

It is quite a common occurrence now for the police to get a bag of offenders at race meetings. Last Monday's fines aggregated £150, imposed on five individuals, for illegal betting, and to-day five were found guilty. The defending counsel made a strong plea on ethical grounds for lighter punishment. The S.M. said he could not trust himself to measure the offences. The Legislature had done that for him, and it took the view that wagering was no trifling offence against society. He was bound to think this was the view of the majority of the people. Small fines, he said, seemed to have no effect. The fines in the aggregate were about £180, and included amounts of £20, £25, and £30, in addition to costs.

COLLAPSE OF MINE WORKINGS.

PERTH, Monday.

A mining disaster occurred at the Co-operative collieries in the early hours of this morning, when a portion of the mine collapsed, and caused a shock throughout the town similar to an earthquake. Luckily there was no loss of life, but had the fall occurred a few hours later, when the day shift was at work, the death roll might have been considerable. The extent of the damage is not yet known.

A BANK ABSORBED.

LAUNCESTON, Monday.

The offer made by the Commercial Bank of Australia, Ltd., to purchase the whole assets and business of the National Bank of Tasmania, Ltd., was unanimously accepted by a general meeting of National Bank shareholders to-day. Another meeting will be held towards the end of the month to confirm the decision arrived at to-day.

CONDENSED MILK.

The Commonwealth Price Commissioner for New South Wales (Mr. Val. Ackerman) yesterday heard statements in support of an application by manufacturers for an increase in the price of condensed milk. The prevailing proclaimed price, it was stated, was 33/ per case of 48 tins; an increase to 37/6 was asked for. Representatives of the retail trade asked that the retail price should be fixed at 25 per cent. above the wholesale rates, which would mean 11½d per tin, because, they pointed out, the costs through increases in wages, and in other directions, had advanced considerably.

The manufacturers urged that as there was a restriction upon them to provide for Commonwealth requirements before exporting any milk, their profits should not be judged on the export trade, from which all the profits were derived, but on the Australian cost of production, and that the price in Australia should be such as to allow a profit.

The Commissioner, in promising speedy consideration of the representations placed before him, said he would have to consider the industry as a whole; he could not deal with it in sections. Certainly, he added, the present price seemed to be inadequate.

"THE BRIGHTON BLAST."

A GIRL'S HEROISM.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Sufferers from Saturday's storm, which will pass down to history known as the "Brighton blast," were so prompt in entering upon repair work on Sunday that a view of the ruins to-day revealed considerable progress towards making good the minor structural damage which scores of building sustained. Those which partially collapsed and could only be repaired by builders' gangs were in many cases undergoing restoration, but there were some so hopelessly rent and uninhabitable that the owners or tenants had no choice but to leave hastily. In street after street it was either moving, mending, or washing day. Clothes lines were hung with mattresses, carpets, curtains, and table covers, which had been drenched by the storm.

Amongst incidents of the storm related today, the most noteworthy was the heroism of Miss Barbara Phillips, of Albury, who is in the employ of Colonel Kendall, of Wellington-street. When the corner of the upstairs bedroom collapsed she heard the screams of Winnie Kendall, aged 6 years, and forcing a way into the room, she released the child. Standing in the teeth of the storm and a constant shower of wreckage, she told the child to crawl through her legs to the shelter of the bed just behind her. When the fury had passed Miss Phillips tore off portions of her own clothing to bandage the child's broken leg, and then carried her downstairs.

Observers of the wrecking of the Brighton Beach railway station state that but for the torrential rain the death roll would have been greater. The broken column in the Brighton cemetery, which had been erected by his admirers as a memorial to the late Adam Lindsay Gordon, was blown down by the storm, and the laurel wreath which surmounted it was thrown aside and broken. The discarded gasometer of the Brighton Gas Company had been dismantled ready for removal to New South Wales. Three sheets of iron, each weighing a ton and a half, were carried away by the storm, one of them being twisted around the trunk of a pine tree at a height of 15ft. These plates at present are irreplaceable. The Governor, Sir Arthur Stanley, visited Brighton this morning and called at the Town Hall, where he expressed his sympathy with the sufferers from the storm, and conveyed the regrets of the Governor-General (Sir Ronald Munro Ferguson), and the Governor of South Australia (Sir Henry Galway).

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The secretary to the Postal Department (Mr. Oxenham) reported to-day that 320 telephone lines and a small number of telegraph lines were blown down by the gale in the Brighton district on Saturday. Most of the lines have since been restored.

THE WEATHER.

The effects of the cyclonic disturbance which was situated to the south-east of Gabo yesterday intensified and worked along the coast, bringing with it strong, squally southerly winds, reaching gale force at places. Rough to heavy seas were being experienced also. Stand-off signals were flying at southern ports. The disturbance was first felt at Sydney at 2.50 p.m., and was heralded by heavy, dark masses of cloud travelling very rapidly from the south. At a little after 3 p.m. a heavy, driving rain squall was felt, and 5 points of rain fell in a few minutes. Wind freshening, and soon attained the force of a moderate gale (30 miles an hour), and at 3.55 p.m. 23 miles per hour was registered in one of the gusts, while a mean hourly velocity of 25 to 30 miles per hour was registered. These strong squally conditions were maintained throughout the evening, with intermittent showers.

The reports received up to a late hour last night showed that the cyclone rested only for a short period on our coast, and by 9 o'clock gave indications of moving to the eastward, and should now only result with unsettled squally winds and showers, with rough seas on the coast.

The effects of the storm were also being felt in the northern coastal districts, where strong and squally winds were being experienced. Stand-off signals were flying at Clarence Heads. As a result of the showers in the city yesterday, 15 points were registered up to 9 p.m. at the Weather Bureau.

CITY COUNCIL.

At the Town Hall yesterday the Lord Mayor, Ald. J. Joynton Smith, M.L.C., presiding, the following City Council vice-chairmen for the year were elected:—

Finance committee, Ald. Walker; works committee, Ald. Richards; health and by-laws committee, Ald. Fitzgerald; electric lighting committee, Ald. Gilpin.

At the meeting of the electric lighting committee, Mr. Mackay, the general manager, in connection with the decision of the council to call for fresh coal tenders, submitted a draft specification for the supply of large and small coal. Mr. Mackay stated that twelve months' supply would be 100,000 tons of coal.

It was decided to report the matter to the next meeting of the City Council on Monday next. Meantime, Messrs. P. Byrnes and Co., the contractors for last year, are continuing to supply coal to the power house by arrangement with the City Council.

A REMARKABLE ACCIDENT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The steamer Loongana did not leave for Launceston to-day owing to a mishap this morning. A spare engine shaft was being discharged from the vessel when the hook of the derrick broke, and the shaft fell down the hold, end on, and crashed through the bottom of the ship. Water began to pour rapidly into the hold, and the Loongana was immediately moved into dock in the river. It is expected that repairs will be effected in time to enable the steamer to run its regular mid-weekly trip on Wednesday. The Loongana only came out of dock this morning after cleaning.

BURWOOD NATIONALISTS.

The Burwood Branch of the National Association on Friday night unanimously carried the following resolution, which was proposed by Mr. A. G. Ralston, K.C., and seconded by Mr. H. Magill.—"That the members of the Burwood Branch of the National Association, believing that a strong, united National party is at the present time essential to the safety and good government of the Commonwealth, deprecates any action on the part of Nationalists that threatens its stability."

Supporting speeches were made by Messrs. John Stinson, P. G. Granger, and G. Jones. The proposers and other speakers said that no satisfactory alternative having been suggested, they were prepared to accept the present Government and Mr. Hughes with all real or imagined faults in preference to any alternative Ministry.

THE DUCK SEASON.

ALBURY, Monday.

Although the game season does not open in the districts bordering the Murray until February 15, 28 local and district sportsmen visited the Lockhart lagoons on Friday and shot 1137 teal, black and wood ducks, but principally teal. The leading gun was that of C. H. Griffith, of Albury, who brought home 118. The total for the number of guns employed is a record for Riverina, although a larger party some years ago shot 1200 ducks on the Henty lagoon. The present is the best duck season ever known on the Murray, the lagoons near the river being simply alive with game.

BERRIGAN, Monday.

Urana district was visited by a large number of sportsmen on Friday, it being the opening of the duck season. The birds were plentiful, especially on Billabong, Colombo, and Cocketgedong creeks. Young birds are also numerous. Lake Urana, which is a sanctuary for wild game, where shooting is prohibited, is teeming with duck. Among the largest bags were:—A Burrangong party secured 145 birds, J. Warren's party, comprising seven guns, 124 birds; J. G. Smith's party, three guns, 51 birds; A. McLeish, 25 birds. Bags of twenty were numerous.

INCREASED PRICES FOR BOOT REPAIRING.

The Master Bootmakers and Repairers Association of New South Wales proposes, on account of heavy advance in the price of materials, to increase the rates for repairs. It is pointed out that leather used for repairs which was obtainable before the war at 1s 8d to 2s per lb, now costs from 2s 8d to 3s per lb, and that grindery has advanced 300 per cent. and stitching thread 250 per cent. A mass meeting of the whole trade is to be held in the Protestant Hall to-morrow evening, to discuss the situation.

IS PARLIAMENT WORTH WHILE?

A CRITICAL EMPLOYER.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

At the monthly meeting of the council of the Victorian Employers' Federation, held today, the president (Mr. Ernest E. Keep) said that economy in private expenditure was preached every day by the Federal Treasurer, the State Treasurers, and others in high places. As a taxpayer he referred to the cost of Parliamentary government—Federal and State. With a population of just on five millions, Australia had seven Parliaments. The members of these Parliaments, Federal and State, numbered 657. Excluding railway passes and what were called "other expenses of members," yearly allowances to members of the Upper Houses (Federal and State) amounted to £143,477, while allowances to members of the Lower Houses amounted to £143,732, or £273 7s 6d per member. During 1917 the Federal House of Representatives sat on 51 days, while the Senate sat on 54 days. Among the Acts passed by the Federal Parliament, it might fairly be said that there were few of lasting importance to the Commonwealth. He asked, was our expenditure on legislation worth while?

DEATH OF MR. JOHN M'LAUGHLIN.

Mr. John M'Laughlin, whose term of practice as a solicitor for 44 years entitled him to rank as one of the oldest legal men of the State, died at his residence, Evans-street, Waverley, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, at the age of 67 years. In November last his eldest son, Major Geoffrey M'Laughlin, M.C., was killed in France, and the news so affected his father that a heart attack supervened, from which he never recovered.

In his day Mr. M'Laughlin was a well-known man in public life, and took a great interest in political affairs. He was a member of the Legislative Assembly for about eleven years in all, though there was an interval between his first and second terms. In November, 1880, he was elected as a member for the Upper Hunter, and sat for that constituency until 1885. Then he remained out of politics until 1895. In July of that year he contested the Raleigh seat, and was returned, sitting through that and the succeeding Parliament, which expired in June, 1901. Since then Mr. M'Laughlin has not sought to enter the Legislature. Two of the subjects in which he took the most active interest were law reform and land legislation. One bill which he introduced sought to simplify and facilitate appeals to the Supreme Court from District Court judgments, and another was designed to prevent Judges sitting on appeals from their own decisions. Protection of bird life was another subject in which he sought to effect improvements in the law, and he advocated several improvements in the land laws.

In his legal career he was looked upon as a sound lawyer. His long experience stood him in good stead. As long ago as 1869 he entered on his articles with the late Mr. W. C. Curtis, formerly of Billyard and Curtis, afterwards of Curtis and Gannon. After completing his articles he entered the office of Allen, Bowden, and Allen, the forerunner of the firm of Allen, Allen, and Hemsley, as managing clerk; and in December, 1874, he was admitted as a solicitor. Mr. Curtis, under whom he served his articles, died in 1876, and Mr. M'Laughlin acquired an interest in the old business, the firm being known as Gannon and M'Laughlin. This firm lasted for eight years; then, in 1884, Mr. M'Laughlin retired, and practised in his own name, until 1907, when his son, Mr. John Harley M'Laughlin, was taken into the firm, which has since been known as John M'Laughlin and Son. From 1886 to 1893 he held the position of treasurer of the Incorporated Law Institute.

During his life he filled positions on the directorate of several companies. For three or four years he was chairman of directors of the Insurance Office of Australia, and when he came to the board the company was in a much worse position than it occupies to-day. However, wise government brought it into favour, and to-day it is looked upon as a sound concern. This was one of the things upon which he was wont to pride himself. As for Mr. M'Laughlin's private life, he was a native of Westmeath, Ireland, where he was born in June, 1850. His parents came to this State while he was yet an infant, and settled in the Hunter River district. His education was received at Lyndhurst College, and not long after leaving school he entered on his law studies. About a score years ago he owned racehorses, the best of which was Correze, which won the Caulfield Handicap in 1890, ran third in the Melbourne Cup in the same year, and carried off the A.J.C. St. Leger in 1891.

Mrs. M'Laughlin survives her husband, and there are two daughters and one son, Mr. J. H. M'Laughlin, his partner in the law business. The funeral will leave his residence, Evans-street, Waverley, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, for the Waverley Cemetery.

CASUALTIES.

BROKEN HILL.—Miss Asther Ann Jones, 24, who was badly burned at her home in Wolfram-street on Sunday, January 13, died in the hospital on Monday. While preparing breakfast, Miss Jones's clothes caught fire, and before the flames could be extinguished she was severely injured. She has been lying in the hospital in a dangerous condition ever since. At the inquest this afternoon a verdict of accidental death was recorded.

GOSFORD.—Hugh Holmes, aged 30, was drowned in Terrigal Lake on Sunday afternoon whilst bathing. The body was recovered some hours later.

NARRABRI.—John Hense, employed as a carter by Collins and Co., lay reading in bed with a hurricane lamp on his chest on Saturday night last, and in this position he went to sleep. The lamp upset and caused severe burns on his arms, head and chest. He is now in the hospital.—F. F. Foster, convicted at Collarenebri on a charge of stealing wool, and brought to Narrabri to serve a sentence of three months, was discovered in a cell on Sunday morning with his throat cut. It is supposed the wound was inflicted with a broken piece of the inside cover of a watch. The injury is not considered dangerous.

NEWCASTLE.—Thomas Bland, wharf-labourer, a married man living with his wife and child in Glebe-road, Adamstown, was attempting to board an outward-bound tram near Darby-street, shortly after 7 o'clock on Monday night, when he missed his footing and fell under the car. The wheels passed over him, and when picked up he was dead.

RABBIT SUPPLIES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Some time ago the Federal Government asked the Imperial authorities whether they were prepared to take this season's rabbit pack on the same terms and conditions as last year. Last season's pack amounted to between 30,000 and 40,000 tons, and realised £1,500,000. A reply was received asking whether the packers were prepared to supply 20,000 tons at last season's rates. The packers agreed to do so, and their decision was communicated to the British Government. A cable message has now been received stating the British authorities regret that they are unable to accept the offer. The Federal authorities are now negotiating with the United States Government for the sale of the greater part of the pack. It is stated that there are still 17,000 crates of last season's rabbits in Australia belonging to the British Government.

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEMEN.

Mr. R. S. Walton, general secretary to the New South Wales Locomotive Enginemen's Union, stated yesterday that his union had now complied with the order of the Industrial Arbitration Court. The industrial and trade union registrars had passed the amended rules. The department had permitted the union notice boards to be displayed in all the loco. depots. The union also had control of the claims which were before the Wages Board.

BRENDAN LANE MULLINS MEDAL.

By arrangement with the Australian Historical Society, Mr. John Lane Mullins, M.L.C., has provided for the annual donation of a gold medal, of the value of £5, in memory of his only son, Lieutenant Brendan Lane Mullins, R.F.A., who gave his life in the cause of freedom and Australia, at Arras, France, on June 14, 1917.

The medal was open to competition to candidates sitting for the Leaving Certificate Examination, and was to be awarded to the candidate presenting the best answers in the Honors Paper in Australian History at that examination, provided that the Chief Examiner in that subject (the professor of history at the Sydney University) certified that the answers were of approved merit.

On Professor Wood's recommendation, the Australian Historical Society has allotted the first "Brendan Lane Mullins" Memorial Medal to Malcolm William Donald McIntyre, of the Scots College.

AUSTRALIANS HONOURED.

Mrs. Murray, of Falls Creek, Nowra, has been advised that her husband, Sergt. Ernest Murray, of the Field Engineers, has been awarded a bar to his Military Medal. In April last he was mentioned in Sir Douglas Haig's despatches for conspicuous services rendered. He left Australia in October, 1914, with the First Field Engineers. He has seen over three years' continuous service, having been among the first batch to land at Gallipoli in April, 1915. Prior to enlisting, Sergt. Murray was assistant mechanic at Duntroon Military College. Two brothers, Lieut. J. C. Murray and Corpl. Harry Murray, are also on active service.

Mrs. R. D. Barton, of Elrom House, has been informed that her son, Major Alan D. Barton, has been awarded the D.S.O.

Lieut. G. Ric. Thompson, son of Mr. W. H. Thompson, of Wilver, Penshurst-street, Willoughby, has been awarded the Military Cross for good work in France. He was employed in the architectural branch of the Tramway Service.

The parents of Quartermaster-sergeant J. J. Salisbury, who reside at Russell-street, Woonona, have received information that he has been mentioned in despatches for conspicuous bravery, and has been awarded the bronze medal by the King of Italy. Sergt. Salisbury is a member of the Camel Corps attached to the Egyptian Expeditionary Forces, and enlisted early in the war.

Mrs. A. H. Stevens, of Marrickville, has received information that her husband, Pte. A. H. Stevens, has been awarded the Military Medal for bravery on the field.

News has been received that Sergeant-major E. S. Key has been promoted and awarded the Military Medal for bravery in France. He is a son of Mrs. E. Murphy, and enlisted about 12 months after the commencement of the war. He has fought all through the battles in France.

A cable message has been received by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Crouch, of Neutral Bay, late of Orange, stating that their second son, Captain Frank H. Crouch, of the Lancashire Fusiliers, formerly of Tamworth, has been awarded the Military Cross in France.

Mrs. Garnett, of Gymea Bay, Port Hacking, has been notified that her second son, Lieut. Eric Garnett, of the Machine Gun Company, has been awarded the Military Cross for bravery.

Lieut. Eric Sinclair, 7th Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sinclair, of Kirribilli, received the Military Cross from the King at the investiture held at Buckingham Palace on December 5. Lieut. Sinclair, who was wounded in Flanders on September 20, is now convalescent.

Mrs. L. B. Mountford has received information that her husband, Lance-corporal L. B. Mountford, has been awarded the Military Medal for bravery. He enlisted shortly after the war broke out.

Mrs. J. W. R. Fieldhouse has received information that her husband, Acting-sergeant J. W. R. Fieldhouse, of the Engineers, has been awarded the Military Medal. He was previously awarded the D.C.M. for bravery at the battle of Messines.

Mr. T. Healy, of Miller's Point, father of Private Wm. John Healy, has been officially notified by General Birdwood of his son's gallantry. The commanding officer of his corps in an order recently issued says:—"The Army Corps Commandant wishes to express his appreciation of gallant and conspicuous service rendered by Private W. J. Healy during the operations at Paschendaele Ridge."

STAMP DUTY.

During the past week £7936/12/6 was paid in connection with probates and letters of administration. The chief contributing estates were those of William Edward Morgan, of Sydney, merchant, £1234/16/; William Rixon, of Bega, auctioneer, £1678/15/; William Henry Wheatley, of Goulburn, auctioneer, £3095/3/1.

THE NEED OF THE HOUR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It seems incredible that the political authorities should shut their eyes to the following facts:—

(1) The food shortage in Great Britain, according to both Lord Rhondda and Mr. Prothero, threatens to be of the very gravest character during the next few months.

(2) There are millions of bushels of wheat in Australia at the present time which are gradually being destroyed by mice and weevils, and for this the producer will have to pay in the long run.

(3) There is a fleet of vessels carrying passengers and cargo up and down the Australian coast, although practically all the passengers and a major proportion of the cargo could go by rail. If these ships were withdrawn from the coast it would mean considerable disorganisation of the interstate traffic, with resultant loss and inconvenience.

(4) The American people are submitting willingly to drastic food restrictions, so that the foodstuffs saved from consumption can be sent to the Allies, and are removing their shipping from the Great Lakes for use on the Atlantic passage.

(5) The voyage from Sydney to 'Frisco takes only half the time that the voyage to Europe does. It is free from submarine menace, and in another month will be comparatively free from bad weather. Every ton of food landed in America will ensure that a similar amount will be released there to go to the Allies.

Why then do we hesitate for a moment? Why should we have an Australian politician in America whining to the people there to send American ships to Australia for our wheat, when we have ships of our own that could carry it if we were prepared to submit to some inconvenience and upset of our economic and traffic arrangements? There is not a moment to lose. Let the demand come from every quarter to the Federal Government to give effect to this proposal at once.

I am, etc.,
RICHARD ARTHUR.

VICTIMISATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Seeing, after the debate on the censure motion in the State Parliament last week, that one of the main complaints from the Opposition was the cry of victimisation of railway employees caused through the late strike, and also noticing that the same complaint has been made by most of the leaders of the late unions concerned, I think it only fair that you should hear something from a loyalist on the subject. I was a railway employee when the late strike commenced, and, with the rest, was asked to cease work, but as the reason did not appear sufficient, I declined, and continued at duty right through. I did only the same work as was customary before the strike, so, therefore, took no other man's job, and have done nothing more or less since the strike. But since the settlement, I, with other loyalists, have been victimised by the strikers at every turn of the wheel, both on and off duty, and in every conceivable way; yet these sportsmen are squealing and using every political means in their power trying to make you believe they are being badly victimised, and it is not fair, and they do not believe in it. Nine of every ten railway strikers since re-employed declare that the first thing a Labour Government must do is to kick out ignominiously every man who remained loyal to his country and the Railway Department. This is "no victimisation," surely. I could fill a column of your paper relating some of the disgusting and filthy things done by these men to the loyalists since the general resumption of work. Of course, while on duty most of the strikers will not speak to or recognise in any shape or form a loyalist, either about the business or anything else, thus not only victimising us, but the taxpayers as well, because, as anyone knows, smooth and harmonious working in the running of trains, where crews have to hand over to each other, is essential for economical results. Again, surely this is "no victimisation." I was a Labour supporter for a long time, but the result of the late strike has filled me to the brim, as I have been since then in a position to see accurately what the rank and file of the Labour party as a whole consists of. Their cry of victimisation is deceitful to the utmost, as they intend, if ever opportunity occurs, to rub it in as hard as possible, and are doing it in a less harmful way all the time. Speaking from experience, I strongly contend that no further consideration should be shown on the "no victimisation" appeal to the present Government.

I am, etc.,
LOYALIST.

COUNTRY NEWS.

ALBURY.—The new Albury Hospital has just been completed at a cost of over £25,000. All but £6000 of this amount was provided by the Government, also the bulk of the furniture required. The Watson surgical ward, however, has been furnished by Mrs. M. E. Watson, of Gerogery East station, the ward having been dedicated to her husband, the late Mr. A. W. Watson, in recognition of the large endowment provided by his widow. The building will be opened free of debt on February 23, and the Minister for Health has been invited to perform the function. The whole scheme was carried through by the Works Department to plans prepared by the Government Architect. Experts say that the hospital is one of the most up-to-date in Australia.

BOMBALA.—Mrs. John Whitehead succumbed to heart failure after a short illness, aged 71. Deceased has three sons and one grandson on active service at the front.

GLEN INNES.—At the annual meeting of the subscribers to the Glen Innes Hospital, the report showed that 267 patients had been treated during 1917, at an average weekly cost of £2 6s 7d. In addition, 453 beds were occupied, showing a daily average of 16 patients, and an average length of stay of 20 days in hospital. The cost of maintaining the institution during the term was £135 per month, which was a decrease on the figures of the previous year. The year was started with a credit balance of £27, and finished with a credit of £264. The total receipts were £3585, including a bequest from the late Peter Bujan of £1300, which has been set aside for the construction of a maternity ward. Mr. Jas. Healy was re-elected president; Mr. Gordon Sargent, vice-president; and Mr. F. W. Belbridge, secretary. The Government has accepted a tender for additions and improvements to the hospital, which runs into £1600.—Councillor Wm. Ross was on Saturday elected president of the Severn Shire Council.—R. C. Burns, at present an employee of the Bulli Shire Council, was selected from 20 applicants for the position of deputy town clerk at Glen Innes, in succession to J. H. Riddell, deceased. Senior-sergt. E. Barnes, of Burrowa, has arrived to take over the charge of Glen Innes police district, in succession to Inspector Robert Hood, recently appointed to the charge of West Maitland. Sergt. A. E. Jones, of Sydney, has been appointed recruiting sergeant for Glen Innes, in succession to Sergt. Geo. Cathcart, who has resigned from the service.

GRAFTON.—Blight has made its appearance in the late maize crops on the Middle Clarence. Its appearance is due to the abnormally wet season. The stock returns for the Grafton Pastures Protection Board just completed show that there are 11,859 horses, 99,894 cattle, and 2191 sheep. Horses show a decrease for the year of 3664, cattle a decrease of 19,635, and sheep an increase of 395. The board has been departmentally informed that the request for erecting tick dips along the Clarence-Richmond boundary cannot be entertained. It would require four dips on the Grafton side, and the erection of 90 miles of fencing, and the funds available are insufficient to incur so large an expenditure. During last year 187 patients were treated at the Lower Clarence Hospital at Maclean. The expenditure totalled £883, slightly in excess of the income. The Grafton Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution to ask the Federal Government to erect maize silos in the Clarence and Macleay districts, the Kempsey chamber to be invited to co-operate.

MOAMA.—At the police court to-day Harry Tollit, described by the police as one of the coming "hooligans" of the town, was fined £4 and costs on a charge of having assaulted a Hindoo. On a charge of having trespassed on Cummeragunnga mission station, John Anderson, an expelled aborigine, was fined £3, in default a month's imprisonment. Constable James, lockup keeper at Moama, has been transferred to the mounted branch of the service. He has left for Balranald.

MORPETH.—Miss Tomkins, 22, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Tomkins, of Morpeth, died on Saturday night from a severe attack of meningitis. She was a school teacher at Kayuga, but owing to illness had not resumed duty since the Christmas vacation.

PARKES.—At the annual meeting of the Parkes District Hospital, the report and balance sheet adopted showed that 453 indoor and 56 outdoor patients had been treated during 1917, at a total cost of £2473. In addition to this the committee spent £1400 in new buildings, and closed the year with a credit balance of £300. The Government has promised a grant of £500 towards the new buildings, but, so far, only half of this has been paid.

SINGLETON.—At the annual meeting of subscribers to the Dangar Cottage Hospital the report disclosed a very gratifying position. The number of patients admitted during 1917 was 351, the daily average being 14.5. The death rate was the lowest on record for the hospital. The following officers were elected—Patron, Mr. R. R. Dangar; president, Mr. A. Grainger; vice-presidents, Revs. C. N. Mell and V. Clark-Duff; hon. treasurer, Mr. D. B. Ramsay; trustees, Messrs. R. R. Dangar, J. Falkiner, and A. Grainger; committee, Revs. C. N. Mell and V. Clark-Duff, Mrs. J. V. White, Messrs. G. S. O'Halloran, D. B. Ramsay, M. A. Anderson, A. Grainger, A. S. Pankhurst, S. M. Hungerford, J. Campey, F. V. Isaacs, Alex. Mather, G. Broomfield, and J. W. B. Waterhouse.

DEATH OF MRS. H. C. DANE.

The death occurred at her home, Heathfield, Mosman, yesterday morning of Mrs. Jeanie Grahame Dane, widow of Major Henry C. Dane, and third daughter of the late Mr. Samuel Cook, for many years general manager of the "Sydney Morning Herald." Mrs. Dane had been seriously ill for about three years, and her death was not unexpected. About 23 years ago, after her marriage to Major Dane, who was lecturing in Australia in connection with the Red Path Lyceum Bureau, Mrs. Dane went with her husband to reside in the United States, and it was on the return voyage to America, after visiting Sydney, some seven years later, that Major Dane died suddenly. Mrs. Dane then returned to Australia and interested herself extensively in charitable work. She was a pioneer of the free kindergarten movement in Sydney, being one of those who started the first free kindergarten at Woolloomooloo, at which time there were only half a dozen children in attendance. Some years ago she composed a series of songs for use in the kindergarten, which, set to music by Mrs. Le Maistre Walker, became very popular. She also contributed interesting children's stories to the "Sydney Mail." Lady Maitland, wife of Sir Herbert Maitland, Miss Cook and Miss Annie Cook are sisters of the deceased, and Dr. S. L. Cook, of Ulmarra, Mr. S. E. Cook (solicitor), Mr. Ernest Cook, who will shortly proceed to the front, and Mr. Alan Cook are brothers. The funeral will move from Messrs. Wood, Coffill, and Co.'s Mortuary Chapel, 810 George-street, city, at 9.15 to-day for Rookwood cemetery.

DEATH OF MR. E. D. HOBEN.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Mr. Ernest Denis Hoben, a prominent Australasian journalist, and founder of the New Zealand Rugby Union, died yesterday in Melbourne on his 54th birthday. Some months ago he came over from New Zealand to take a position in Melbourne, but owing to illness he had not been able to take up his duties in a regular way. In 1896 Mr. Hoben went to Sydney, and was employed on the "Daily Telegraph," and subsequently on the "Sydney Mail." He afterwards returned to New Zealand for a further term of newspaper work. His family lives in Christchurch, N.Z., and an only brother, Mr. Sydney Hoben, who is a musician, lives in Los Angeles, U.S.A.

YOUNG AUSTRALIAN HERO.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, of Kumara, Alfred-street, Ramsgate, Kogarah, have been advised that their son Ernest was decorated with the ribbon of the Military Medal and also awarded a bar, for conspicuous bravery. Young Wilkinson enlisted in his seventeenth year, and has been away for over 12 months. He was awarded the Military medal and bar 23 days before he was 18 years old.

SOLDIERS ENTERTAINED.

Lance-corporal S. C. Shearsby, who recently returned from France after 2½ years' absence, was entertained at the Manchester Unity Hall, Enmore, by his friends. The Mayor of Dulwich Hill (Alderman Ness) presided, and presented Lance-corporal Shearsby with a gold watch, ring, and matchbox, on behalf of his friends. In returning thanks, Lance-corporal Shearsby said that the Australian forces had been badly pressed for reinforcements since they landed at Gallipoli. To-day they were more urgently needed than ever.

The Daceyville and District Citizens' Committee gave a welcome home and farewell to 18 soldiers and sailors in the Daceyville Garden Theatre on Monday evening. The function took the form of a social evening. Among the men who returned were the four brothers Griger.

Sapper A. H. Read, who is leaving for the front, was a few days ago presented by the Rev. W. White, on behalf of the St. Paul's Men's Fellowship, with a safety razor.

FINANCIAL.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE WITH INDIA.

Following on a resolution adopted at the Imperial War Conference, held in April last, regarding the utilisation of the Trade Commissioner Service of the Imperial Government by the self-governing dominions and Government of India, the Imperial Government have been notified by the latter of their desire to avail themselves of the services of the British Trade Commissioners in all parts of the Empire. The officer in charge of the British Trade Commissioner's Office in Sydney (Mr. J. S. Strong) accordingly advises that Australian import and export firms and manufacturers desirous of being placed in communication with similar firms in India, should communicate with him at Royal Exchange-building, Pitt-street. Mr. Strong has on file in his office a number of official publications relative to Indian trade, and hopes to receive, shortly, directories and other trade publications.

THE MORATORIUM.

"X.Y.Z."—Not unless there was a clause in the agreement contracting the purchaser out of the moratorium. "Worried": (1) If the bill of sale was entered into before September 20, 1916, then the moratorium applies, and no seizure can take place. If after that date you have probably contracted yourself out of the provisions of the moratorium regulations, and they therefore would give you no protection. There is no need to do anything to make the moratorium effective. A seizure under the circumstances would be illegal, and would render the person seizing liable to damages. (2) It makes no difference in this connection. "Anxious": Yes, unless you have not signed yourself out of the provisions of the moratorium. "Anxious" (Cheltenham): If the purchase were made before September 20, 1916 the moratorium applies, and only interest need be paid. No second mortgage would be needed; but if the moratorium applies then it is unnecessary to transfer.

STATE INCOME TAX.

"J.S.": Yes. "Farmer": Yes. "J.A.": The whole of your income is taxable in the circumstances you mention. "N.B.": No return is needed.

"Engineer": (1) Yes; (2) as though the prospective profit was actually made at the date of sale.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

A fair business was done in heavy metal lines and in shelf lines of ironmongery and hardware yesterday. Bar iron was in demand, and was becoming scarcer. Prices advanced £1 a ton, except for small sizes in rounds, squares, and flats, in which the advance was £3 a ton. Quotations are now £28/10/, and for small sizes of the descriptions mentioned £35. Mild steel was also up to £28/10/ a ton. Shoeing iron and steel met with a full inquiry, and bad business at £29/10/. Kelly's axes were up 4/ a dozen, light being quoted at 78/ and heavy at 79/. Handles were worth 24/, and difficult to get even at that rate. The demand for hay forks and scythes had fallen right away. Galvanised hoop iron was quoted at 65/, and black was advanced to 55/ per cwt. Angle iron was without alteration at £32 and tees at £32/10/ a ton. Fencing wire was wanted at £50 for No. 8 black, and £54 for No. 10. There were still fair stocks of the latter on the market, considering the demand. Galvanised wire was without alteration at £61 and £56 for No. 8 and No. 10 respectively. Black plates advanced £10 a ton to £75. Sheet lead was without alteration at £40 in full rolls. Ingot tin had inquiry, and sellers asked 3/2, and for tin piping 3/5 a pound. Plaster of Paris was half-a-crown dearer at 55/ a cask. Sheep shears were wanted at 85/. The demand for rabbit traps was hardly so keen, in consequence of the cancellation of British orders for rabbits. I.X.L. traps were quoted at 27/, and special at 28/6 a doz.

A strong demand existed yesterday for all paint material. Australian whitelead was quoted at £72 a ton in ton lots, and at 75/ a cwt. in smaller quantities. American whitelead was plentiful, the last big shipment still having its effect on the market. A parcel of 12 tons sold at £72. Australian linseed oil was quoted at 6/8 and 6/10 for raw and boiled respectively. A fair amount of Gourepour oil was available at 7/6 for raw in cases. A keen business was done in mineral lubricating oils at high prices. Turpentine was worth 5/10 to 6/. One hundred cases of Japanese cod oil sold at 4/9.

Fifty barrels of G grade rosin were placed at £23. Eight tons of caustic soda changed hands at £82 net.

Week-end cables from Calcutta showed a slight easing in forward quotations of all classes of jute goods. With the working of full time it is probable that production is about one-sixth more. Locally there were plenty of cornsacks available, with no demand. Sellers would willingly take 9/6, and perhaps shade that price if an offer were made. Woolpacks were going out at 5/4½ each, and branbags were quoted at 9/3½ a doz. Business all round was quiet.

THE SUGAR YIELD.

Some uneasiness has been exhibited as to the sugar position, in view of the destruction of large stocks at Mackay. As far as Australia is concerned, supplies for local consumption will not be affected. Owing to the record yield, a large surplus will remain in hand at the end of the season. According to the latest information received by Colonel Oldershaw, the officer attached to the Prime Minister's Department, in charge of sugar operations, the present Queensland crop is expected to exceed 350,000 tons, or about 70,000 tons above the previous record yield of 1913-14. This great increase is accounted for by a large quantity of cane having been allowed to stand over from the previous year, and by exceptionally favourable weather conditions. New South Wales will produce about 20,000 tons, making a total of 370,000 tons. As the consumption will not exceed 270,000 tons, this leaves a surplus of about 100,000 tons. Even if the whole of the 30,000 tons of raw sugar stored in Mackay were irretrievably lost, the surplus only would be affected. There would still remain a surplus of 70,000 tons. Commencing in June, the sugar cutting season in Queensland ends about December, by when practically the whole of the cane cut has been treated by the mills. This season, owing to the shipping and coal strikes, and also to the difficulty of obtaining tonnage, it has been impossible to keep pace with the mills, and to transfer all the raw sugar to the refineries in Brisbane, Sydney, and Melbourne. This is why so large a quantity as 30,000 tons of raw sugar is still on hand in Mackay.

According to a compilation made by the National City Bank of New York, the sugar production of the world is now almost 12 per cent. below that of the year preceding the war. In 1914 it was forty-two thousand million pounds weight, and in 1917 thirty-seven thousand million pounds weight, the fall being due to a reduction of product in the best fields of Europe.

COFFEE.

The Congress of Costa Rica has established an export duty on coffee at the rate of 1 dollar 50 cents United States currency per 46 kilogrammes (101½ pounds avoirdupois). Payment of the tax is to be effected in bills of exchange at ninety days' sight, in the above-mentioned currency, to the satisfaction and order of the Minister of Hacienda. Coffee shipped from the country prior to August 31, 1917, is exempted from the present tax, but must pay the tax established by the Law of 1914 (which is now abrogated).

The present law is to remain in operation until the expiration of two years after the conclusion of peace in Europe. During the period in which this law remains in operation no taxes other than those in force at the date of the law are to be levied on coffee plantations or on the income produced by them; neither shall any new tax be placed on the cleaning or export of coffee.

NEW YORK FUR SALES.

Messrs. W. H. Chard and Co. have received from the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation the following cable: "Australian foxes advanced 25, opossum 60 per cent. over October sale rates. The market is active and strong."

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

Trade in dairy produce opened brightly in Sussex-street yesterday. All leading lines commanded strong support. Quotations were fully maintained at last week's levels.

Honey was in strong demand, and consignments from the Western districts realised to 4½d per lb. For a parcel 4d was accepted. Some houses charged 9d extra for the tins in which the honey was packed, although a Federal proclamation is in existence which stipulates that the maximum price which may be charged for empty kerosene tins is 4d. The market for new-laid hen eggs was firm at from 1/7 to 1/9, but case eggs were slow at from 1/1 to 1/3. New-laid duck eggs were keenly competed for at 1/9. Good stocks of cheese were available. Prime loaf brought from 9d to 9½d per lb. Fairly heavy shipments are being made to oversea destinations. Butter was well supplied. Arrivals included 8839 boxes from Byron Bay, 192 boxes from the Macleay River, 1860 boxes from the Clarence River, 147 boxes from Coff's Harbour, and 2400 boxes from the South Coast.

Quotations were:—

Suburban Consignments.—Roosters, choice young to 9/, good 7/ to 8/, medium, light, and old from 3/; hens choice heavy to 8/, good 6/6 to 7/6, medium, light, and small from 3/6; drakes, Muscovy, choice young to 10/6, good 7/ to 8/6, medium, light, and old from 5/; ducks, Muscovy, choice young to 5/6, good 4/6 to 5/, medium, light, and old from 4/; English to 5/6; turkeys, none to hand; pigeons to 2/ per pair; carcase pork to /10, carcase veal to /8. All classes of poultry in good demand, owing to short supplies and rain. Prices were forced up in consequence.

FORAGE AND GRAIN.

Potatoes were scarce. The Tasmanian shipments had not arrived, and the only tubers available were a consignment of 2000 bags of Pinkeyes, from Victoria. For these £6/10/ and £6/15/ was secured. The market for onions was weaker, at from £7/10/ to £8 a ton. There were no Globes offering.

Quotations were:—

Lucerne.—Hunter River, small bales £4/10/ to £5; large prime green, £4; other grades from £1/10/ a ton.

Broom Millet.—Prime long hurl, £50; inferior from £40 a ton.

Oats.—Tasmanian Giants, 4/ to 4/3; Algerian, feed, 2/8 to 2/10, milling 3/3 to 3/6 a bushel.

Straw.—Tasmanian, £4/5/ to £4/10/ a ton.

Oaten Hay.—Victorian, £6/10/ to £7 a ton.

FRUIT MARKET.

As usual, the wet weather had a depressing influence upon trade in fruit, and prices were maintained only with difficulty.

Quotations were:—

Oranges.—Choice 16/, medium 9/ to 12/, small 3/ to 5/ per bushel-case.

Lemons.—Choice 12/ to 13/, medium 7/ to 9/, small 5/ to 6/ per bushel-case.

Quinces.—2/6 to 4/ a bushel-case.

VEGETABLE MARKET.

Dull conditions ruled at the Vegetable market yesterday. Plentiful supplies of cabbages were to hand, but the quality being good, the majority brought 6/ per dozen.

Quotations were:—

Cabbages.—Local, 2/ to 6/; lettuce, /3 to /8.

Beetroot.—/6 to 1/; carrots, 1/9 to 2/3; celery, 2/6 to 3/; herbs, /6; leeks, 1/6; mint, /3; parsley, 1/ to 2/; parsnips, 2/; radishes, /6; rhubarb, /6 to 1/; spinach, 1/; white turnips, 1/ to 2/; eschalots, 1/6; watercress, 1/6 to 2/6 per dozen.

Vegetable Marrows.—1/ to 3/ per dozen.

Watermelons.—6/ to 12/ per dozen.

HOMEBUSH STOCK SALES.

SHEEP.

MARKET IRREGULAR.

There was a small supply of sheep in the pens at Homebush yesterday, the total being 9407, from 53 owners. The market opened firm on last day's rates, competition being brisk. Information was then circulated that the Metropolitan Meat Board had issued notices to the owners of suburban slaughter-houses that after the 6th inst. slaughtering must be discontinued at those establishments. As a result of this decision, the Homebush Abattoirs will be the only available place for slaughtering the whole of the sheep and cattle for the metropolitan area, unless, of course the board should grant some exceptions. This intimation naturally had a certain effect on the market. It appeared to restrict competition, and values eased. However, taking the market as a whole, the high rates during the early sales made the market generally dearer on the day. The quality of the sheep when compared with late offerings was quite up to the average of the summer trade. There was, however, an absence of prime heavy sheep, the supply being chiefly confined to useful trade lots, with a good sprinkling of lambs, which sold up to 29/.

A line of 143 cross wethers from B. J. Robards, of Trangie, sold to 42/7, and averaged 39/7; cross ewes from the same owner made to 36/7. A line of cross ewes from G. Grace, Bugilbone, sold to 39/5. A consignment of 178 merino wethers from A. Maybury, of Narromine, realised to 39/, and averaged 34/10. A. W. Holcombe, of Cryon, forwarded 149 cross hoggets. These sold to 39/2, and averaged 37/3.

Among the principal sales were the following:—From Mrs. Gunn, of Wagga, xbd w to 37/7, and xbd e to 34/1; from A. Buchanan, of Narrabri, xbd e to 37/, and e to 33/1; from Brindley Park Pastoral Company, from Merriwa, xbd w h to 35/4; from A. Maybury, of Narromine, w to 39/; from J. Morrison, xbd w to 38/3; from estate of late L. P. Doyle, of Werris Creek, xbd h to 32/10; from T. Booth, of Gunning, w to 31/3; from F. T. Horton, of Euchareena, xbd w to 33/6; from the Tindale Estate, at Muswellbrook, xbd h to 31/2; from W. V. Gibbs, of Cathundral, xbd h to 37/1; from H. M. Witts, of Gunning, xbd h to 37/; from H. Coulson, of Orange, w to 34/10; from northern agents, at Bunarba, xbd w h to 34/5; from B. J. Robards, of Trangie, xbd w to 42/7, and xbd e to 36/7; from Dartmouth Estate, at Emerald Hill, xbd w to 33/11; from A. Cole, xbd h to 33/7; from Martin Bros., of Forbes, w to 33/11; from Kearing Bros., of Bendick Morrell, xbd w to 35/5; from W. H. A. Tucker, of Woodstock, xbd e to 35/2; from G. Green, w to 35/4; from G. Grace, of Bugilbone, xbd e to 39/5; from C. W. Hamilton, of Parkes, xbd w to 38/8; from A. W. Holcombe, of Cryon, xbd h to 39/2; from S. A. I. Company, Ltd., at Henty, w to 33/6; from A. Blake, of Coonamble, w to 34/, and xbd w to 23/11.

CATTLE.

A DEARER MARKET.

There was a yarding of 957 cattle from 44 owners. The quality of the offering was good; mostly useful trade sorts, with a fair supply of prime heavyweight beef. The attendance of buyers was quite up to the average, all sections of the trade being in attendance. Competition was good, and the market generally was buoyant, with prices firm on last day's advanced rates, and in places showing a rise of from 10/ to 15/. The buoyancy of the market continued throughout the day, and the ruling rates at the close were slightly in advance of the opening quotations. There was a good line of 30 bullocks, which came from B. Buffier, of Whittingham. These sold to £22/10/, and averaged £21/10/3. Another good average line was 30 bullocks from S. and F. M. Payne, of Blandford. These realised to £23/19/, and averaged £21/10/2.

Among the principal sales were the following from Wallangra Pastoral Company, Ltd., 52 bullocks to £20/4/, averaging £18/16/3; from White Bros., of Muswellbrook, 21 steers, averaging £19/19/; from R. H. Dangar, of Whittingham, 29 bullocks, averaging £17/13/4; from Hewitt Bros., of Denham, 5 bullocks, averaging £18/17/, and 6 cows, averaging £15/14/; from W. Andrews, 6 bullocks, averaging £18/7/8; from A.A. Company, of Willow Tree, 27 bullocks to £22/10/, averaging £22/0/8; from Brindley Park Pastoral Company at Merriwa, 33 bullocks to £21/11/, averaging £20/7/; from J. F. Dowling, of Dungog, 13 bullocks to £23/15/, averaging £22/17/8; from H. E. A. and V. White, of Scone, 55 heifers, to £18/7/, averaging £16/16/4; from H. C. M'Donald, of Muswellbrook, 8 bullocks to £28/19/, averaging £22/5/6, and 23 cows to £14/6/, averaging £13/4/7; from A. E. Cordeaux, of Bowral, 22 steers to £20/1/, averaging £19/12/6; from B. Buffier, of Whittingham, 30 bullocks to £22/10/, averaging £21/10/3; from H. H. Cordingley of Uralla, 8 bullocks at £19/10/; from W. Renwick, of Mungindi, 120 bullocks to £24, averaging £19/17/2, and 11 cows to £22/9/, averaging £17/12/; from T. J. Bowra, of Willow Tree, 13 steers at £19/19/; from R. B. Buffier, of Singleton, 40 bullocks to £27, averaging £21/15/3; from S. and F. M. Payne, of Blandford, 30 bullocks to £23/15/, averaging £21/10/2; from J. Brown, of Muswellbrook, 33 steers to £20/6/, averaging £18/17/11; from E. R. White, of Denman, 18 bullocks to £22, averaging £19/17/7; from C. Fysh, of Pittsworth, 16 bullocks to £24/9/, averaging £20/18/.

SALES FOR JANUARY.

During the month of January the number of sheep and cattle sold at Homebush was as follows:—Sheep, 138,548; cattle, 10,826.

MINING.

The Sydney market for mining shares opened quietly yesterday, but business showed up well towards the close of the day. Among copper propositions there were persistent inquiries for Mount Lyell, but no listed business resulted. Mount Morgan rose /3 to 32/. Gold mining issues received a little attention. Consols closed a shade lower at 16/9, while Deeps handled freely at firm figures. Bendigo Amalgamated sagged to 2/3, and Clark's, a Queensland concern, provided exchange at 5/6. Mammoth Molybdenite were quiet, and the only move was that of covering on the part of recent sellers. Only moderate interest was displayed in tin dredging propositions. Katoo Deebook reappeared at 10/. Larut was firm, and Austral Malay advanced to 55/. Tongkah Compound moved up /6 to 13/, but Trong was a shade easier at 13/3 forward. Movements in Barrier stocks were irregular. Souths sold forward at £9/15/, and Norths hardened to 59/; but on the other hand Junction Norths sold down to 21/3, a fall of 1/3, and rallied later to 21/5½.

NORTH LYELL MINE.

QUEENSTOWN, Monday.

Productive work at the North Lyell mine continues on satisfactory lines, and all levels are looking well. The usual proportion of rich ore is being won from the 1100ft level, and the 1000ft level is maintaining its ordinary good value. At the 925ft level No. 2 north drive is still being extended in good ore, with no indication of the limit being reached. At the 700ft level the ore body met with in the north drive has been proved for a distance of about 25ft, following contact, and a start has been made to break into it with the object of ascertaining its area.

ESTATE OF MR. COHEN.

Probate has been granted in the estate of the late Mr. Norman Samuel Cohen, who died at Larbert, Macleay-street, Potts Point, on December 9. Mr. Cohen was for many years managing director of Elliott Bros., Ltd., of Sydney and Brisbane. The executors and trustees named in the will are the Perpetual Trustee Co., Ltd., and Lieutenant Stuart S. Cohen, Royal Engineers. Under the will the trustees are directed to set aside a sum of £1000, which is to be invested for a term of 50 years. The income therefrom is to be paid to the Sydney Hospital, the Montefiore Jewish Home, the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, and St. Vincent's Hospital each year in rotation, and at the expiration of the term of 50 years the capital sum of £1000 is to be equally divided among such of the institutions named as are then in existence. The residue of the estate is to be held upon trust for the benefit of the family of the testator. The value of the estate has been sworn for probate at £248,511 2s 9d, of which sum £223,151 2s 9d is represented by personalty, the balance being realty.

LATE ARCHDEACON GEER.

The remains of the late Archdeacon Geer were buried yesterday afternoon in Gore Hill Cemetery. A short service was conducted at his late residence, Magic-street, Mosman, by the Rev. W. H. H. Yarrington, and shortly after 2 o'clock the funeral cortege moved to St. Clement's Church, Mosman, where the Rector, the Rev. Clive Yarrington, assisted by Canon Vaughan and the Rev. Fisher Johnson, read the service. Thence the coffin was taken to the cemetery, where the Rev. Clive Yarrington officiated. At the graveside, or in the church, in addition to the widow and daughters of the late archdeacon, were Messrs. A. W. Macdougall, Robert C. Macdougall, Eric C. Macdougall, and Keith Macdougall, all nephews, Messrs. R. Latimer (formerly Superintendent of Police), A. Massey, J. C. Toose, H. J. Rayment, W. Gillman, H. J. Solloway, Archdeacon D'Arcy Irvine, and several others. Wreaths were sent by Eric Macdougall and family, "All at Dunolly," the staff of the Girls' High School, Fort-street, and others. Two sons of the archdeacon, one of whom lives in Victoria, and the other near Brewarrina, were unable to reach Sydney in time to attend the funeral.

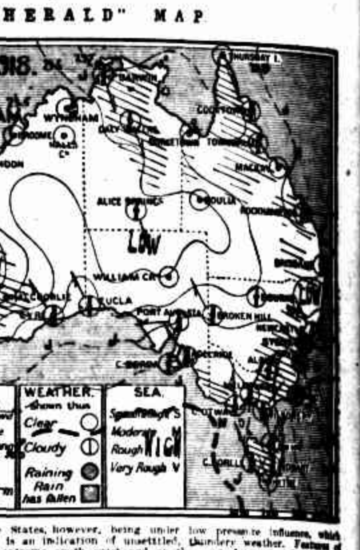
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



As on Saturday, the distribution of pressure over Australia and New Zealand is both interesting and portentous. A cyclonic rainstorm is operating over Western Australia, where light to very heavy rainfall has so far been recorded at most of the places reporting on Monday morning. Yalgoo received 357 points, and Cue 228 points. Fresh to strong northerly to south-easterly winds are blowing, and there is every prospect of the whole of that State coming within the scope of the disturbance. Over the remainder of the Continent, excepting Western Victoria, tropical conditions hold sway. Relatively high pressure exists over the Southern Ocean, where, as the southward extending disturbance impinges on its isobars, squally east to south-east winds, with disturbed seas, should be experienced along the southern shore-line. Relatively high pressure is also rather firmly established over the western half of Victoria and New South Wales, and consequently the weather there should be mostly fine and cooler, with south-east winds. The eastern half of these States, however, being under low pressure influence, which is in co-operation with the southern "high," is an indication of unsettled, thundery weather. Features of more than usual interest are shown on our extreme south coast and on the central coast. It is as yet difficult to identify the southern coast depression with the destructive storm at Melbourne on Saturday, owing to it being in an area of meagre data. However, this depression is apparently without much energy. Another one is on our coast, and this is also without energy, although worth watching. Some thunder and hail squalls are likely in north-east districts.

Ocean Forecast.—Winds, fresh and squally, on parts of New South Wales coast; smooth to moderate seas over southern waters, no reports from tropical coast of Western Australia.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Weights for the Victoria Park Racing Club's pony and galloway meeting on Saturday will be issued to-day.

In Melbourne to-day the V.R.C. and V.A.T.C. officials will be busy. General entries for the V.R.C. Autumn Meeting will be taken, and first forfeits are due for the St. Leger Stakes and Sires' Produce Stakes. General entries will also be received for the V.A.T.C. Autumn Meeting, and final nominations for the [illegible] stakes are due.

Davies, the trainer of Desert Gold, paid a special fee yesterday morning for the use of the very outer edge of the [illegible] the grass track, to gallop Desert Gold, and, carrying M[illegible], she ran seven furlongs in 1m 31s apparently without an effort, and the last [illegible] furlongs were run in 1m 12s. The time value of this gallop [illegible] in the fact of the outer edge of the track being [illegible] yards further to travel than in on the [illegible]. J. [illegible] also used this track for King Mostyn and [illegible] Mongindi, who are both engaged in the Australian Cup. They ran a mile in 1m 51s.

The next race meeting of the Wallsend Jockey Club will be held on Saturday, February 16. Entries will close at [illegible] on Thursday, the 7th instant.

The profits of the last meeting of the Parkes Jockey Club (£67) have been given to "Our Day" (British Red Cross).

The movements of Red Pennant depend upon his owner, Mr. [illegible] J. Watt, who arrived from New Zealand yesterday. Desert Gold's owner, Mr. T. H. Lowry, intended to leave by the same boat as Mr. Watt, but he was [illegible] for a time. Davies, Desert Gold's trainer, [illegible] decide about the mare running in the Newmarket Handicap until her owner arrives, and he wishes it to be made public that she is unlikely to run in that event.

"R.G." (North Randwick).—Flament started in the Opening Handicap at Maitland on Saturday.

The time for receiving entries for the Richmond pony race meeting on Wednesday, February 13, has been extended until 4 p.m. to-day. Railway rates on all full [illegible] will be refunded.

"[illegible]" ([illegible]).—The Juvenile Handicap at Williamstown on January 26 was timed to start at 2.30.

A meeting of "place" bookmakers who have been compelled to cease operations at the Associated Racing Club's courses since the introduction of the three dividends by the totalisator, was held yesterday at the School of Arts. It was decided that a deputation should wait on the Minister to discuss the the question of competition against the machine.

RICH AGRICULTURAL, ORCHARD, AND DAIRY PROPERTY.

STOCKRINGTON.

SWAN, MURRAY, and HAIN have received instructions from Mr. James Beveridge to sell by auction, at their Rooms, CHURCH-STREET, WEST MAITLAND, on WEDNESDAY, 6th FEBRUARY, 1918,

at 12.30 p.m.,

A FIRST-CLASS AGRICULTURAL, ORCHARD, and DAIRY PROPERTY, situated in the Parish of Stockrington, containing 142 acres 3 roods 20 perches, Conditional Purchase, all conditions fulfilled, and same can be converted into Freehold at any time.

There are two Mining Leases on the Property, with the right to mine for coal—No. 106, 41 acres 3 roods, and No. 107, 42 acres 2 roods.

IMPROVEMENTS consist of 6-roomed Cottage, bathroom, kitchen, store-room, packing-room, cart shed, and barn combined, stables, cemented underground tank, milking yards and bails, dairy, and all conveniences for carrying on a Dairy and Orchard.

The Property is subdivided into three paddocks, all securely fenced, 13¼ acres is planted with choice fruit trees, mixed varieties, all in full bearing; 7 acres cleared and ready to plant; 75 acres cleared, under grass; the balance natural bush country, which can be cleared at any time with very little expense. Permanent water in every paddock.

There is also a small two-roomed Cottage on the Property, and Public School five minutes' walk from the house.

We wish to draw the attention of speculators and those in search of a first-class Property, as it is situated within easy distance of the Maitland Markets, being only 8 miles from Maitland, where fruit and other products of the farm can be marketed at auction three times weekly in one of the best markets in the State.

This is the country where the early tomatoes are grown, and often the first of the season realise as high as 28/ per half-bushel.
